Farm Aristocracy
Do You Understand Money?
Mussolini's Ambition
Hard to Steal Circulation

By Arthur Brisbane

THE American Agriculturalist is a French family of farmers, the Poublans, who have owned the same farm since 899 years that family, in the same house, have cultivated the same acres. They were there when Joan of Arc was born, when Calvin, the good Catholics in Switzerland. They had been on that farm more than 400 years when Columbus found America. The present farmer, Lacassies Poublan, is the twenty-fourth generation on his farm of 200 acres. Such people are not dying out, but it's too bad they don't have children. The desire not to sell the farms keeps the family alive.

* * *

Possibly the Poublans, as regards genuine ancestry, are older than any royal or noble family in Europe.

It is said the oldest noble family in Italy descended from Romans that had fled from the barbarians and settled on the marshes of Venice to escape capture.

Who can understand finance? It is a mysterious thing, money. Everybody uses it; none understands it.

The French are in the Ruhr. German money drops below Austrian and Polish currency. You would say: "Financiers know that France will get whatever Germany loses." But at the same time the French franc drops.

Then from Athens comes news of a panic among Greek financiers. What for? That panic is caused by an increase in the value of Greek money.

When the currency of a nation goes down there is despair. And when it goes up there is panic. Explain that, please.

Mr. Mussolini, ambitious Italian, evidently a born ruler—for a while claims the Mediterranean for Italy, saying: "It shall be our sea."

For a long time the Mediterranean belonged to Carthage, the great seafaring trading city, once strong enough to tell Rome just where her ships might go.

Then Rome killed Carthage and Rome ruled. At present it's a mixed situation. The eastern shore of the Adriatic, civilized and built by Rome, belongs to various temporary nationalities.

As for the Mediterranean, England has one key, Gibraltar. The United States now have another key, the Dardanelles, and will hold on to it until Russia takes it away from them. Ruling the Mediterranean, race cradle of most of civilization today.

Frank Munsey bought the Globe and paid for it two million dollars. That is the official figure.

He discontinued the Globe to consolidate with his New York Evening Sun. Numerous little evening newspaper failures in New York began clamoring for the circulation. It was around a dead horse. A little more of failure had not killed them that you can't steal circulation, you must create it.

Money probably will end by killing some more of them and burying them on the head also.

Another private revenge.

Delegates of the international advertising convention at Atlantic City thoroughly approved clergymen mention advertising in their sermons. The connection between sermons and advertising may be obscure to you. The black cloud-like type is the big black type. The flash is the red type. Both promising no more than advertising in colors. Advertising big type. Advertising in beautiful colors how the sky is overhead results, you understand. Read the truth about Arcturus. Sensation! Sensation! — wonderful!

Rev. Mr. Knox, chaplain of Princeton University, tells the students that fear is man's greatest foe. That's a fact. A lot of human beings say: "I can't do it," and then do what they might.

Curiously enough, according to science, has a good deal to do with useless glands. One gland makes a man timid, another gland makes him brave. We are very curious animals.

Lancaster Men Held Innocent

Believe Neither Clark Nor Pugh Guilty Of Taking Funds

HIGHLAND — The doors of the First National bank here were closed on Monday by Earl W. Moon, national bank examiner, Rock Island, Ill., following an examination which has been in progress for several weeks.

L. Elam, formerly of Dodgeville, is president of the bank. H. F. Songpiel is vice president. The bank was organized in 1916. G. F. Elam was formerly cashier until he was burned in an automobile explosion about a month ago.

The bank was capitalized at $5,000, with a surplus and undivided profits of $2,500. Deposits April 3 of this year were $98,263, and loans and discounts totalled $115,009.

This is the second bank in this section of the state to be closed within a week. The People's State bank at Lancaster, closed last Saturday, is the other.

No funds are availabel for a reward for the capture of J. Howard Pugh and Lester A. Clark, cashier and vice president, respectively, of the People's State bank at Lancaster, according to Dwight T. Parker, state banking commissioner, said today following a conference this morning with Gov. Blaine. Gov. Blaine declared that it is within his power to appropriate money for such a reward but he has no money in his contingent fund.

LANCASTER — C. H. Basford, former president of the People's State bank which was closed by the state banking commission last Saturday morning, arrived here this morning to assist examiners in the checkup of the bank.

While officers here were going over the assets and liabilities of the institution with a view to determining the amount of the shortage, the search for J. Howard Pugh, cashier, and Lester A. Clark, vice president, continued.

Banking officials in Madison today stated that they do not believe that either Clark or Pugh made away with any of the funds of the bank, despite the fact that they were in the bank between midnight Friday night and daybreak Saturday morning.

Two letters were written by the men while they were in the bank. One was addressed to W. C. Edwards, bank examiner, and the other to George B Clementson, district attorney and a director in the bank.

While officials refused to make known the contents of these letters, they said that the two men intimated that there had been irregularities by officers before them.

LANCASTER — A report that Lester Clark, vice president of the People's State bank, closed, here Saturday, is a cousin of Clyde Stephens, absconded cashier of the Montfort State bank, who disappeared a year ago this month, is untrue, according to Dwight T. Parker, Madison, state banking commissioner. Mr. Clark's aunt, who recently died, was the wife of L. H. Steven's president of the Lancaster State bank. Clyde Stephens married a sister of Mr. Stevens.

Rules Against Hip Pocket Search

The Supreme court today held that prohibition enforcement officers may not lawfully search the person of anyone suspected of violating the liquor laws without first obtaining a search warrant.

Chief Justice Vinje, writing the opinion said that "since it is not unlawful either as a misdemeanor or as a felony to have a bottle on one's person the search cannot be justified on the ground that the person searched was committing an unlawful act and hence could be lawfully searchd.

"It is also said that if searches such as this cannot be made the prohibition law cannot be enforced. This may be true in part or it may be true in whole. The answer is that an article of the constitution having its origin in the spirit if not in the letter of the Magna Carta prevents it and that it is the duty of the court to sustain and enforce the constitution in its entirety and not to permit what may seem to be presently a desirable mode of procedure to annul such fundamental portions of our organic law as the freedom from unlawful searches.

"The importance of such a provision may be lost sight of in times of peace in a well organized and well administered state, but in times of stress or dissensions its value is as great as those who inserted it in the constitution conceived it to be."

Senate Passes Two Cent Gas Tax Measure

$3,000,000 Highway Committee Bill Is Engrossed

Without a dissenting vote the senate this afternoon advanced to engrossment and third reading the highway committee bill providing for a 2-cent per gallon tax on gasoline. The $3,000,000 which it is estimated would be raised by such a tax, under terms of the bill would go into a fund for construction and maintenance of a 10,000 mile state trunk highway system.

Two Men Seek To Hold Post

Committee Named to Rule On Issue; Farness Again Chairman

Frank Siggelkow will be named the legal incumbent of the Mac Farland seat on the Dane county board of supervisors at the meeting tonight, it was authoritively stated this afternoon. This was decided by a special committee of the board selected last night. The committee decided that T. I. Ottum, is not entitled to the seat.

A committee of five men including M. D. Larson, Madison; Emil C. Cady, Madison; E. G. Dunlap, Sun Prairie; W. H. Sommers, Blue Mounds; and F. F. Bowman, Blooming Grove, was named by Chairman Farness to meet this morning to determine which of the two men shall be recognized by the board as the legal incumbent of the office.

Simon Farness, supervisor from the village of De Forest, was unanimously re-elected chairman of the board in the first minutes of the session.

Fred E. Gratz, Madison supervisor from the fifth ward, was elected vice- president to succeed Louis Benson of Cambridge.

A committee on committees named by the chairman includes the names of H. J. Klinefelter, Deerfield; C. O. Telefson, Rockdale; Jay McCue, Black Earth, and Andrew Madson, Oregon.

This committee is expected to make its report at the meeting of the board tonight.

Which ever way the committee of five decides on the question of the McFarland supervisorship, the case will in all probability go to court, board members agreed last night as they gathered in groups in the hallways following the meeting to discuss the peculiar situation.

The situation at McFarland followed close on the spring caucus and election. At the caucus it was decided to combine the offices of supervisor and village president. T. I. Ottum was named to run for these offices.

Ottum was elected. Siggelkow, supervisor from 1920 to April, 1923, contested the balloting on the grounds that the wording of the ballots made them fraudulent. He maintained that by using only one name-line after the words "for supervisor and village president," the election became illegal. He holds that there should have been two separate lines, one reading "for supervisor" and another reading "for village president."

In a communication to the board last night Siggelkow stated:

"This is to give notice that the undersigned, Frank Siggelkow, is duly elected, qualified, and acting supervisor from the village of McFarland, and that he claims said office by virtue of the fact that he was elected to that post in April, 1920, and that although his term expired April, 1923, no valid election has been held, and that until his successor has been duly elected and qualified, the undersigned is the legal incumbent of the office."

Franklin Bump, assistant attorney general, ruling on the question has proclaimed Siggelkow the real title holder.

Absent members on County Clerk George J. Fjelstad's roll call last night were: Robert Daggett, Jr., Madison; H. J. Doll, Waunakee; and Leo Witzko, Mazomanie.

The board adjourned after a half-hour meeting. It will reconvene at 7:30 tonight.

OCONTO FALLS—Diplomas will be presented to 350 rural school graduates of Oconto county at the annual commencement here on June 6.

Hergesheimer, Here for Research, Astonished at Spectacular Co-ed Life

Eminent American Novelist, In Madison For Two Weeks' Stay, Boyishly Admires Free And Easy Varsity Existence

By WILLIAM DAWSON

Joseph Hergesheimer, eminent American novelist who arrived in Madison late yesterday afternoon from the east to conduct a two-week research at the university preparatory to rewriting his year-old book, The Magnetic West, is startled by the spectacular result of co-education at Wisconsin's university.

Hergesheimer

This was one of his first exclamations when I found him taking life easy on the veranda at the University club this morning.

A short, rather heavy-set man of middle age, dressed in tweeds and white duck, and noticeable for his rather boyish face, iron gray hair, and quizzical, yet humorous blue eyes, I had little difficulty in placing the man who has become famous as a writer of romantic-psycho-analytical stories and other romantic fiction with historical background.

From our seat on the porch of the University club we commanded a sectional view of Lake Mendota sparkling under the early morning sun. Students passed in review across the lower campus and up and down State st.

It was this spectacle that was perhaps responsible for his exclamation:

"This is startling, this scene of

Here Is Ordinance on Carnivals

The following ordinance, introduced by Ald. Asa Groves, was passed by the Madison common council on July 14, 1922.

The Mayor and Common Council of the City of Madison do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. No carnival, or any exhibitions commonly known as carnivals, shall hereafter be licensed or permitted to perform or operate in the city limits of the City of Madison and no such carnival or carnival exhibitions shall hereafter exhibit, perform or operate in the City of Madison. Provided, however, that less than three riding devices shall not be considered a carnival or carnival exhibition, as herein described, where the License Board of the City of Madison has granted a permit for the operation of such devices. Any person, firm or corporation, violating the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction thereof, be subject to a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars for each offense.

SECTION 2. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Approved
I. M. KITTLESON,
Mayor.

July 25th, 1922.

This is to certify that the foregoing ordinance was adopted on the 14th day of July, 1922.

H. C. BUSER,
City Clerk.

Carnival At Old Baseball Grounds

(EDITORIAL)

The carnival is again permitted in Madison.

As a result of sentiment aroused a year ago the common council passed an ordinance against carnivals in Madison. It was maintained that the carnival as an institution is a public menace and that it draws thousands of dollars from a community for which it gives practically nothing in return.

The organization providing the entertainment at the Moose Pageant of Progress is a carnival pure and simple. The carnival is exhibiting in Madison in violation of a city ordinance.

Wheels of fortune—gambling devices, are on the grounds in profusion. Thousands of dollars will be taken from the people on these wheels and some trinkets and tawdry pieces will be given in return.

It is up to Mayor Kittleson to take action in this matter. If a resident of Madison violates an ordinance he is placed under arrest. Why should travelling organizations that will take thousands of dollars out of Madison and give practically nothing in return be permitted to come here and break the law?

The responsibility rests squarely upon city officials who granted the permit for the carnival to be held here.

Three State Officials Will Be Charged With Liquor Violations

Enforcement Committee Asks More Time For Investigation

Taree prominent Blaine appointees, members of state boards and commissions, are charged with the illegal use of liquor in an investigation of the Madison Law Enforcement Committee of 100 it was learned today.

After announcing that it had information upon which it would ask a senatorial investigation of alleged prohibition law violations by state department heads and legislators, the local Law Enforcement Committee of 100, today said that it wished "a little more time for further investigation." A final report is expected next Monday, with the request that a committee of the senate look into the drinking situation among officials.

Following a preliminary report of the investigation committee composed of Robert N. Nelson, former Dane county district attorney and Thomas W. Gales, district representative of the Anti-Saloon league, this was issued:

"The investigation so far confirms the reports which lead to the appointment of this committee. Your committee requests that in view of certain information that has come to it at the last moment that it be given a little more time for further investigation."

It was reported today that the committee has unearthed some startling conditions. One report is to the effect that the committee has become aware of the action of a state commissioner and a state senator who were on a "spree" and who became so obnoxious that complaint was made by the neighbors. It is reported that these two were intoxicated for several days.

The name of a local hotel is also connected with the liquor business that has prevailed among capitol officials.

The committee is declining to make public any of the information which it has found and it is understood that this will be revealed when a demand for an investigation is made.

Youth Sacrificed to Rain Goddess Is Burned Alive

(By the Associated Press)

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia— Human sacrifice, still is practiced in some parts of the old world, it was shown here when six members of a local tribe were sentenced to death for burning alive a young man named Manduza in order to appease the rain goddess. Rhodesia has been suffering from a severe drought and some of the native tribes ascribed it to the wrath of the Goddess, who, they believed, has been violated. Inquiries led the tribal chief to believe that his son was guilty of having assaulted the Goddess, and he thereupon ordered his incineration. The rain Goddess, a young and handsome girl did not testify against him.

Defense counsel commented on the high motives which led the chief to sacrifice his son for rain, and referred to parallel cases in Hebraic and Semitic history.

Rain fell soon after Manduza was burned alive.

The highest temperature during the 24 hours ending at 9 a. m. was 85 at 4 p. m. yesterday, and the lowest 69 at 5 this morning. The sun sets at 7:38.

The trough of low pressure now extends from the lake regions to the southwest. Scattered showers have fallen in the southeast, along the plains to the northern Rockies, and in the upper lake regions.

A high barometer with fair and cooler weather is moving down the plains. Freezing temperatures have been reported in southern Utah during the last 24 hours.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR WISCONSIN.

Generally fair and rather cool weather is in prospect for the balance of the week.

Senate Passes Measure Over Blaine's Veto

Senate O. K.'s Bill For Excessive Income Tax Refund

The senate overrode a gubernatorial veto for the first time since Gov. Blaine took office today, passing notwithstanding executive disapproval the joint finance committee bill providing for the refunding of excessive income taxes within a period of six years. The vote was 18 to 6.

Six other bills vetoed by Gov. Blaine were voted on by the senate, but did not receive the necessary majority to pass. They included the state affairs committee bill prohibiting the wearing of masks and the Schumann smoke nuisance bill.

The finance committee bill will also have to receive a two-third's majority favorable vote at the hands of the assembly before it can become a law.

J. M. Fix Is Victim Of Fumes

Daughter Finds Him Dead Over Gas Stove In Kitchen

Jacob M. Fix, 65-year-old widower employed as an aid at the Forest Products laboratory was found dead from gas fumes in the kitchen of his home, 628 Clymer place at 11:30 today by his daughter, Margaret, upon her return home from university classes.

The body was found lying over the gas stove. Calls for help from the daughter brought F. J. Ganser, local insurance agent, to her aid. They carried the body to the rear porch. Life was extinct before the body was found, according to Dr. Carl Harper who was called. The body was taken to the Schroeder undertaking parlors.

The deceased is survived by a daughter, Margaret, of Madison, a son, Ashley, school teacher at Phillips, Wis.; two sisters, Mrs. Louis Dangle, Reedsburg; Mary Fix, Merrill; two brothers, John of Union Center, and Alois, of Tomah. J. M. Gahagan of this city is a brother-in-law of the deceased.

Strike On Steamers Is Looming; French Seamen Demand Liquor Rations

PARIS—The threat of stokers and firemen on French steamers to strike unless assured they will receive their usual daily allowance of wine when in New York harbor has raised an issue that probably will be made the subject of diplomatic correspondence with Washington.

Meanwhile state ship officials intimate that the La Fayette, sailing from Havre on Saturday, and other French ships, will be supplied with the usual stocks of beverage liquor for the men, as provided by law.

Madisonians At Dedication Of Memorial

Van Hise Tablet Placed In Gorge At Ableman, Sunday

A bronze tablet, upon which is inscribed data concerning Van Hise rock, was dedicated and placed on the stone geological wonder in the gorge north of Ableman Sunday afternoon, while some 50 Madison people witnessed the ceremony. About 300 were present.

C. K. Leith of the geological department of the University of Wisconsin and an intimate friend of the late Dr. Charles R. Van Hise, former president of the university, delivered the principal address. In part, he said:

'The association of Van Hise's name with this ancient landmark is peculiarly significant from a geologic standpoint. In the early eightys Irving and Van Hise began a study of the pre-Cambrian rocks of the Lake Superior region and Canada which are the oldest known rocks on the globe. They were pioneers in a great geologic frontier and the field yielded a rich scientific harvest. It opened up long vistas into the dim geologic past which were entirely new. As a result of their labors, the Lake Superior region became known, wherever geology is studied as a standard of this type of geology.

"This rock, with its associates of like character in the Baraboo bluffs, is an outpost of the Lake Superior pre-Cambrian and typifies many of its significant features. Van Hise used pictures of it in his writings to illustrate important principles of geology. As the southermost and most easily accessible representative of the pre-Cambrian rocks, it has been visited by classes in geology from the University of Wisconsin, the University of Chicago, from Northwestern university and other institutions."

INSCRIPTION ON TABLET

The material of this rock was once on the sea bottom, and has since hardened into quartzite. It was tilted to the present position by a slow earth movement, and then separated from the adjacent cliff by erosion. The vertical light and dark bands represent the original layers. The inclined cracks in the dark layer were caused by the readjustment in the layers during the tilting.

This rock is pictued in geolic text books as a type illustating impotrant principles of structural geology, and has been a point of special interest to many investigators in geology visiting this region. President Charles R. Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin, was one of the first and foremost of these.

Free Rail Passes For Real Estate Agents Are Barred; Bill Is Signed

Free passes on railroads for real estate agents engaged in inducing settlers to take up a residence in Wisconsin, terminated today with the governor's signature to a bill by Senator Howard Teasdale making in unlawful to grant further free rides for this class of business men.

The move against free passes on railroads has taken the form of a new bill now before the legislature forbidding railroads to give transportation privileges to any person unless paid for at regular rates. This measure was introduced by the committee on insurance and banking by a real estate agent, according to members. It is up for hearing before the committee on transportation.

Railroad brotherhoods are opposing the bill against free passes for employes.

County Boards Have Highway Police Power

County boards have the power within the constitution to police highways within their borders and to declare and enforce forfeitures for their violation, F. E. Bump, assistant attorney general, ruled in an opinion to the district attorney of Outagamie county.

Fines collected for violations of the county road ordinances may constitutionally be used for county purposes, the opinion held.

State Can't Bar Foreign Languages in Private Schools, Says High Court

Would Deprive Persons Of Personal Liberty, Is Decision

WASHINGTON—It is not within the power of state legislatures to prohibit the teaching of foreign languages in private, parochial or other schools to which the state does not contribute, the U. S. Supreme court ruled yesterday.

Decisions in five related cases, handed down by Justice McReynolds set aside state laws of Nebraska, Iowa and Ohio as contrary to the fourteenth amendment of the federal Constitution that "no state shall deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law." The court held that such legislation interferes with this guarantee of personal liberty.

Justice Holmes wrote a dissenting opinion, in which Justice Sutherland concurred.

Justice McReynolds said:

"It is said the purpose of the legislation was to promote civic development by inhibiting training and education of the immature in foreign tongues and ideals before they could learn English and acquire American ideals; and 'that the English language should be and become the mother tongue of all children reared in this state.'

"Perhaps it would be highly advantageous if all had ready understanding of our ordinary speech, but this cannot be coerced by methods which conflict with the Constitution—a desirable end cannot be promoted by prohibitive means.

"As the statute undertakes to interfere only with teachings which involves a modern language, leaving complete freedom as to other matters, there seems no adequate foundation for the suggestion that the purpose was to protect the child's health by limiting his mental activities. It is well known that proficiency in a foreign language seldom comes to one not instructed at an early age, and experience shows that this is not injurious to the health, morals or understanding of the ordinary child.

"The judgment of the court below must be reversed."

Home Rule To Be Issue At 1923 Election

Blaine Signs Referendum Bill; Also Bill Limiting Labor Injunctions

Governor Blaine's signature today to the Quick bill brings to an issue the question of home rule for cities and villages, which has been a point of contention in the legislature for a number of years. The bill submits a proposed constitutional amendment to the people at the November, 1923 election providing for a vote on the home rule question.

The governor signed the Barber bill restrictly the issuance of injunctions in labor disputes to circuit judges or judges of concurrent jurisdiction, and then only after 48 hours notice. This means the end in Wisconsin of injunctions in labor disputes issued by court commissioners and judges of minor courts.

The Blomberg bill establishing fire districts in the forest counties of the state, as a means of special protection, received the approval of the governor and went into effect. The conservation commission is empowered to create eight districts each to be supervised with special protection against fires.

Start Work To Save Lake Shore Bank On Lincoln School Property

Improvements to the Lincoln school yard were started this morning which, when completed, will add about 5,000 square feet to the school property and prevent caving in of the steep bank along Lake Mendota.

The shore will be filled in to the dock line established by the city. She filler is a mixture of dirt and crushed stone from the excavation of the track zone on E. Johnson st. A corduroy road has been built to the lake shore to prevent trucks from sinking into the soft earth. About 1,800 square yards of material will be hauled to the school yard.

A stone seawall may be built beyond the dock line later, according to board of education members who have authorized the improvements.

Man Holds Up Gambling Resort; Is Shot Dead

HERRING, Ill.—Ezra Fowler, of Pittsburg, Illinois, was shot and killed last night when he attempted to hold up a gambling resort, four miles southeast of here.

Ralph Hill, who was in the resort refused to comply with Fowler's command to hold up his hands and Fowler shot him in both legs, and falling to the floor, Hill returned the fire, killing Fowler instanty.

Ohio Man Sees His First Movie at Age of 96

George Tuttle.

CONNEAUT, O. — Witnessing his first moving picture performance at the age of 96 was the recent experience of George Tutle, living seven miles south of this city, on his sons farm. "Yes," he said after theh show, "the pictures were quite wonderful." He expressed no particular surprise at what he had just seen nor seemed to think it unusual to see one's first cinema at the age of nearly a century.

He was born October 3, 1827, in Sandusky county, Ohio, but has lived on the farm near Conneaut for the past eighty years.

Auto Busses Must Stop At Grade Crossings In State; Bill Is Now Law

All auto busses running on Wisconsin roads must stop hereafter before passing over unprotected grade crossings under penalty of fine and denial of the privilege of operating, as a result of Gov. Blaine's signature today to the Schumann bill.

This measure requires that bonded carriers must come to a complete stop not less than 20 feet nor more than 40 feet from every unprotected grade crossing. By this precaution it is the home of Senator Schuman that the possibility of crossing accidents will be largely eliminated.

Best Home Treatment For All Hairy Growths

(The Modern Beauty)

Every woman should have a small package of delatone handy, for its timely use will keep the skin free from beauty-marring hairy growths. To remove hair or fuzz from arms or neck, make a thick paste with some of the powdered delatone and water. Apply to hairy surface and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. To avoid disappointment, be sure you get real delatone and mix fresh.—Adv.

10 Oklahoma Professors Quit as 'Radical' Is Named Head

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—Resignations of 10 of the leading faculty members of Oklahoma agricultural and mechanical college were filed with the state board of agriculture Monday afternoon. All announced they were leaving because they could not serve under George Wilson, farmer-labor league leader, who was installed on Monday as president of the institution.

The letters of resignation were placed in the hands of J. B. Eskridge, retiring president, to be presented to the board of agriculture in the event Wilson took office.

The feeling of the retiring faculty members was expressed by Dr. Tolman, who asserted "he could not work under Wilson, as his ideals of education, of government, of character and American principles" were thoroughly out of harmony with those of Wilson.

The three farmer-labor league members of the board of agriculture, who elected Wilson, will meet the new college head in Stillwater on Monday to receive from him his faculty recommendations.

A regular meeting of the board will not be held at Stillwater on Tuesday. Wilson's faculty recommendations probably will be acted upon when the full board meets in Oklahoma City on Wednesday.

No statement was forthcoming from the office of Gov. Walton on the situation.

Wilson's friends see in him a farmer who has first of all the farmers' interest at heart and who has for more than a score of years been active in movements to further the lot of the agricultural classes. He has had years of teaching and executive experience.

Aged Mother Sues Daughter For Savings

Alleging that her daughter and son-in-law took her savings of $1,193 from her with a promise that they would treat her kindly and care for her in her old age, and then refused to carry out the agreement when they secured the money, Mrs. Wilhelmina Thomas, 80-year-old widow, today filed suit against her daughter, Anna Goltze, and the latter's husband, Frank.

According to the complaint, the daughter and son-in-law took her $30 a month pension each month along with the larger sum. In October of 1922 she was forced to leave her daughter and take up residence with a son, William Daentl, the widow alleges. Now she wants a judgment of $1,87[illegible]. The suit was filed today in superior court.

For the skin rashes of childhood use
Resinol
Don't neglect the little one's chafed skin or the patches of rash or eczema, for children are bound to scratch and minor troubles may result in stubborn sores. Resinol Ointment is widely recommended by doctors and nurses because it so quickly stops itching, and will not harm the tender skin. It soothes as it heals.
Resinol Soap cannot be excelled for the toilet and bath tending as it does to keep the skin healthy through its unusual cleansing powers. At all druggists.

Chicago & Northwestern System
C. & N. W. Ry. C., St. P., M. & O. Ry.
Providing Equipment
When crops are good; business brisk, and everyone employed, statements are often made that there is a shortage of railroad cars and locomotives. A most natural question just now is, What action is the Chicago & North Western Railway System taking to meet the present situation? I will answer by concisely setting forth facts below to show just what has been done to provide cars and locomotives for the service of its patrons.

EQUIPMENT PURCHASED during the seven years 1916-1922 inclusive, consisted of 398 locomotives, 190 passenger cars, 14,352 freight cars, at an aggregate cost of ..... $ 45,636,039
EQUIPMENT IN SERVICE on December 31, 1922, consisted of 2,434 locomotives, 2,439 passenger cars, and 78,773 freight cars.
NEW EQUIPMENT purchased for delivery in 1923, consists of 150 locomotives, 280 passenger cars, and 7,951 freight cars, at an aggregate cost of ..... $ 24,000,000
COST OF REPAIRING EQUIPMENT during the past seven years aggregated $182,995,684

This expenditure of almost $10,000,000 per year for new equipment and $26,000,000 per year for upkeep emphasizes the earnest and continuous effort to meet the public requirements.

Purchases for the year 1923 are larger than usual. In 1922 there was moved 2,448,000 carloads of freight, of which 1,704,000 were loaded on its lines, an average of 31 carloads for each car—a real achievement. It required 448,871,816 car miles to deliver this at destination and required 223,030,650 miles of empty haul to move cars from points of unloading to points of loading.

At best there will be times when the demand for freight cars will exceed the immediate supply, and at such times we must ask the forbearance of our patrons, who are assured that every possible effort will be made to meet their requirements. A reasonable shortage of equipment at the peak of traffic is not easily overcome, and is no occasion for alarm; and within bounds, indicates a healthy condition of business.

Everyone using freight cars who loads and unloads them promptly increases the available supply of cars and best secures his own interests and those of others. Experience shows that over one-half of the time taken for handling freight is used for loading and unloading, and if this be done promptly there is more than sufficient equipment to handle the traffic of the country.

To the extent of our financial ability and with faith in the future, we have made these expenditures for new cars and locomotives and for the repairing and maintaining of our equipment in service. Our faith in the American people, and our duty to our patrons compel this action. The splendid co-operation of our shippers in prompt loading and unloading of cars, coupled with the effective service of our employes will enable us to make full use of our increased facilities in our effort to move satisfactorily all traffic offered us.

Fraternities Loyal Harding Tells Shriners

President Opens Convention; 20,000 Nobles In Big Parade

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Justice alone entitles a fraternal organization to survive, and "secret fraternity is one thing, secret conspiracy is another," President Harding declared today in an address at the Imperial Council session of the Mystic Shrine.

President Harding said in part: "I like the atmosphere of fraternity. I rejoice in the knowledge that I am addressing a body where every heart is loyally American, where every impulse is American, where every commitment and consecration are to the republic and its free institutions. Some times there are false impressions about fraternal organizations. No man ever took the oaths and subscribed to the obligations with greater watchfulness and care than I exercised in receiving the various rites of Masonry and I have never heard an obligation uttered which could not be openly proclaimed to the world. Here, if the lessons taught were heeded, the obligations read were assumed, if the relationships urged were adopted, men would be indefinitely better in their human relationships.

Pennsylvania avenue, scene of many historic pageants, probably never presented a more colorful picture than it did today as 20,000 Nobles of the Mystic Shrine marched over its two miles of "burning sands" from the capitol to Washington circle. As the procession passed through "The Garden of Allah," reproduced in front of the white house, it was reviewed by the president, and Imperial Potentate George S. McCandless, and his Divan.

Sanitation Is Basis Of All Civilization Technical Club Hears

Sanitation is the basis of all civilization, Col. W. G. Archer, Evansville, Ind., representative of the National Trade Extension bureau, told members of the Technical club at a meeting held last night in Christ Presbyterian church.

"There has never been a people destroyed among those who bathed," Col. Archer declared. "If you tell me Rome was destroyed though they bathed, I tell you that Rome was destroyed because of the unclean hordes who poured in from the outside."

America is far ahead of France in public comfort stations, he maintained and declared that personal sanitation in that country was a travesty on the decencies of life.

The "plumber joke" was classed by the speaker as "the most expensive joke ever pulled off, as it tends to keep young men out of the trade and to keep up the shortage." He invited his hearers to cite anything that adds to comfort in the home that can compare with modern plumbing.

F. W. Mallory, of the Illinois Electric Co., R. J. Reynolds, treasurer of the Burgess Battery Co., and George B. Cox, instructor in industrial education at the university, were elected new members of the club.

OBITUARY

MRS. THOMAS CHAMBERLIN

The funeral services and interment of Mrs. Alma Isabel Wilson Chamberlin, 75, wife of Thomas C. Chamberlin, former president of the University of Wisconsin, who died Sunday at the Hyde Park hotel, Chicago, will be held tomorrow morning at Beloit, Wis.

Dr. and Mrs. Chamberlin were residents of the city between 1887 and 1892, after which they moved to Chicago, where Dr. Chamberlin is now head of the department of geology. A son, Rollin F., and the husband are the only survivors.

Mrs. Chamberlin had been seriously ill only a few days before her death. She is the aunt by marriage of Mrs. Charles D. Rosa, wife of Justice Rosa of the supreme court.

MRS. FRANK BRYANT

Funeral services for Mrs. Frank Bryant, 57, who died yesterday morning at a local hospital, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the farm home of her husband, three miles south of the city.

The survivors of Mrs. Bryant are her three sons, Lester, Damon and Grant, all living in Madison and one daughter, Mrs. William Dornbkhof, at home. The remains were taken to the residence this morning from the Gill undertaking parlors. Interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery.

Here Is Summary of Work Done by Rockefeller Foundation in 1922; Made Medical Surveys

NEW YORK.—A review of the work of the Rockefeller Foundation in 1922, written by its president, George E. Vincent, will be issued shortly. As the close of the year brought the Foundation almost to the completion of its first decennium, a resume of the activities of the organization since its establishment in 1913 has been included in the annual report.

In parts of the Review made public today, the work done by the Foundation in 1922 directly and through its departmental agencies—the International Health Board, the China Medical Board, and the Division of Medical Education—is summarized as follows:

During the year 1922 the Rockfeller Foundation

Endowed chairs of medicine and of surgery in Hongkong University;

Pledged $1,125,000 toward new buildings for the College of Medicine of the State University of Iowa;

Contributed to the current maintenance of two medical schools in Canada;

Completed the buildings, strengthened the faculty and wholly financed the Peking Union Medical College;

Agreed to appropriate $300,000 toward laboratories and premedical teaching in two Chinese institutions and in one missionary university in Peking;

Helped 19 hospitals in China to increase their efficiency in the care of patients and in the further training of doctors and nurses;

Promised to co-operate in the rebuilding and reorganization of the medical school of Sao Paulo, Brazil, and of the medical school of Siam in Bangkok;

Made a survey of medical schools in Austria, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Hungary, Poland, and Switzerland, and studies of English and Scotch methods of clinical teaching;

Sent eminent medical men as visiting professors or consulting officers to China, the Philippines, Brazil and Salvador;

Arranged for a commission of medical scientists from Strasbourg to visit the United States and England;

Gave emergency aid in the form of medical literature, laboratory supplies and apparatus, fellowships and stipends to promising investigators and teachers in the Pasteur Institute of Paris and in many other European centers;

Pledged two million dollars toward the site, building, and equipment of a school of hygiene in London;

Co-operated with state boards of health in maintaining institutes and instruction for health workers;

Shared in malaria control in 34 county-wide and 32 town demonstrations in ten Southern states and continued field studies and surveys in the United States, Porto Rico, Nicaragua, Brazil, Palestine, Australia, and the Philippines;

Co-operated with the Mexican and other governments in steadily restricting the prevalence of yellow fever;

Resurveyed centers of hookworm infection in four Southern States, and carried on control work in 21 foreign governmental areas;

Took part in promoting full-time health service in 163 counties in 18 states of the United States, and in several counties in Brazil;

Agreed to support for five years the disease-reporting service and for three years the international exchange of health personnel program of the Health Section of the League of Nations;

Provided fellowships in public health, medicine, nursing, chemistry, and physics to 237 advanced students from 23 countries;

By consultation and providing of personnel aided public health administration in the United States, Australia, Brazil, Canada, Central America, Czechoslovakia, France, the Philippines;

Contributed to mental hygiene projects, demonstrations in dispensary administration, hospital information service, surveys of nursing education and hospital management, the organization of tuberculosis work in France, the training of French health visitors, and other undertakings in the fields of public health and medical education.

Huber Jobless Measure Is Up Tonight

Hearing On Bill Held This Morning; Commons Argues For Bill

Action on the Huber unemployment insurance bill pending in the senate was postponed until tonight after the upper house had spent the morning in committee of the whole listening to arguments for and against the proposal.

Prof. John R. Commons of the University of Wisconsin, author of the bill, was its chief proponent. He emphasized the need for stability of jobs in industry to give assurance against serious labor troubles that give rise to radicalism. The professor contended that large industries created a labor problem in this country and state by inducing, in times of prosperity, large numbers of working men to leave the country to take up jobs in the cities, only to be later thrown out of their jobs to become hoboes.

A. L. Osborn, Roger Sherman Hoar and Assemblyman Anton Holly spoke against the measure. They attacked the bill as a move that would be detrimental to both industry and agriculture.

Christian Church Meets Begin Tomorrow Night

The special Gospel services which are to be conducted in Madison under the auspices of the Christian church will begin tomorrow night in a tent which has been erected and conformably seated, on the corner of E. Main and Franklin sts. The services will be in charge of Evangelist J. S. Raum of Ann Arbor Mich.

He will be assisted by Fred. C. Blank of Clinton, Ind., as director of song, and Miss Zunia Bells of Newark, O., as pianist and contralto soloist. Song service will begin each evening at 7:45. The public will be welcome.

Committee Won't Act On Bank Request

No action was taken by the judiciary committee Monday night on the request of national banks in the city that they be given a refund of taxes paid on stocks in 1921. The banks claim that as the stocks are already taxed by the government they are free from a city tax. Action of the committee was indefinitely postponed.

Second Choice Is Given Death In Assembly

Garey Measure Loses By Vote Of 37 To 34; Blomberg Bill Advanced

The Garey senate bill providing for the preferential or second choice primary election system was again given an adverse vote by the assembly today after the body had reconsidered the vote by which it killed the measure last week. The vote today was 37 to 34 and was on a motion for indefinite postponement made by Assembly Lindahl of Superior.

The assembly also killed the senate resolution by Kuckuk providing for the appointment of a special interim committee to investigate the Wisconsin education system and make recommendations for changes to the 1925 legislature.

The highways committee bill providing for the appointment of special highway traffic officers by the highway commission was engrossed.

The Blomberg bill which would provide a more equitable distribution of common school funds was engrossed by the assembly today, 42 to 26. The committee on education had recommended the bill for indefinite postponement.

The bill would change the present method of distributing common school funds, basing the amount a district shall receive on the valuation of the district. It would also increase the tax rate for common schools from 7 mills to 2 mills. The bill now goes to the finance committee.

Examine Pre-School Age Children Tomorrow

All children of pre-school age, from families living in St. Raphael's parish, may be brought to the Father Perrit school tomorrow afternoon between 2 and 5 p. m. for weighing, testing and examination. Dr. Dorothy Mendelhall with school nurses assisting, will be in charge of the pre-school clinic.

MASON—A consignment sale of cattle will be held here on June 12 by the Bayfield County Holstein association. About twenty-five head have been listed.

Movie Camera Records Great School Event

Annual Spring Festival Held At Camp Randall Today

Madison schools, each represented by its student delegation, displayed their colors and their banners in the processional which opened the annual Spring Festival at Camp Randall this afternoon. Caps and arm bands in a variety of colors nd designating the school from which the wearer came, were much in evidence.

The delegation from Draper school led the parade, followed in order by Harvey, Brayton, Lincoln, Washington, Doty, Longfellow, Randall, Emerson, Marquette, Hawthorne Lowell and Lapham.

Moving pictures of the fete were taken. They will be shown at the Strand theater Wednesday to Saturday according to A. P. Desormeaux manager.

As Indians eighth grade pupils from Emerson outlined the map of Wisconsin in the field while children from al lthe eighth grades in the city gave a pageant of the coming of Nicollet and his followers in to Wisconsin and the making of the state in 1848. Children in red caps formed the letters of that year in the fiel dwhile the chorus sang "Wisconsin Evermore." The chorus members formed a living flag of red white and blue in the stadium.

Folk dances, drills, and athletic stunts under the supervision of Mrs. Fannie Steve and Glenn W. Rall were given by the children from the other grades. The little children presented the garden story as seeds, sunbeams, raindrops, butterflies, and birds. The high school bands, under the leadership of John Jaquish, instructor, furnished music for the march and the events.

Ekern Tells History Of Chicago Drainage Case At Lions Club Meeting

"Diverting water from Lake Michigan into the Chicago drainage canal takes $1,000,000 yearly from the freight earnings of Wisconsin ships operating on Lake Michigan and Superior," Herman Ekern, attorney general told members of the Madison Lions club at their regular weekly meeting in the Park Hotel here today.

Mr. Ekern told of the history of the drainage canal and how the Sanitary District obtained a temporary permit from the War department to divert the water, and how later it was learned that Congress if the only body in a position to grant such a permit.

Justice M. B. Rosenberry of the state Supreme court gave a short address to the club on the Community Union.

"The Community Unioyn has an important place in this community and can do more good than any single agency to bring people together," he said.

2,500 Attend Moose Pageant; Piano Prize Goes to No. 5262

The $375 piano, the first prize to be awarded by the local moose lodge at its pageant of progress in the old ball grounds, was won by the holder of purchase ticket No. 5,262 last night. Up to a late hour this morning the piano had not been claimed by the winner.

The pageant officially opened at 8 o'clock last night with a concert by Scherer's band and the presentation of the fist free attraction, Samayoa, aerial artist, who performed on the platform erected in the center of the grounds. Approximately 2,500 persons paid admission on the opening night.

Free attractions followed at half hour intervals, and included the entire list of offerings secured by the Moose for the entertainment of visitors to the pageant. Samayoa was followed by the Seven Morocco Arabs, tumblers; Miss Louise Cody, "the girl who sings to beat the band"; Harry Sykes and Company in the act, "a whirl on wheels," and Capt. George Webb, who dives from the top of a lofty ladder onto a net.

Dancing opened in the 100-foot pavilion at 8:30, music being furnished by Boyd's orchestra.

The pageant will be opened every afternoon at 2 and every evening at 7 during the balance of the week concluding Saturday night with the crowning of the queen, and the reward of the Chevrolet roadster to the winner of the popularity contest and of the diamond ring to the winner of second place in the contest.

The prize to be awarded tonight to the holder of the purchase book containing the winning number will be a set of furniture. Interest at the pageant tomorrow will center on the wedding to be held on the platform on the grounds, when the bride will wear the $500 wedding gown offered by the Moose to the girl who would get married at the pageant.

A Mr. Clark, of the Moose pageant of progress will be the groom at the wedding to be held on the platofrm at the scene of the pageant, it was learned today. The initials of the groom and the name of the bride, however, still remain a mystery.

Lauds Blaine For His Veto Of Klan Bill

Janesville Methodist Minister Praises Work Of Organization

JANESVILLE — Basing his remarks on the platform and the Christian ideals set forth by the Ku Klux Klan, the Rev. Frederick F. Case, in a talk from his pulpit in the Methodist church here Sunday night, declared the order to be "one of theh most American institutions we have," and brought out the thought that the Klan may be to the Protestant church what the Knights of Columbus order is to the Catholic church.

Our own state legislature passed a bill intended to put out of business the Ku Klux Klan but Gov. Blaine had good sense enough to veto the measure," the minister said. He pointed to a recent investigation conducted by the Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, New York, who from 250 cities heard that the klan had never been convicted of crime.

Dr. Case said that law enforcement back of which the klan stands is a serious problem and that this country today is probably suffering from too many laws.

Wheat Crops Backward Is U. S. Review

Both Drought And Floods Cause Damage; Fruit Doing Well

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON— Some deterioration in winter wheat in all areas except parts of the southwest and on the Pacific coast is reported by the U. S. department of agriculture in its semi-monthly crop review issued today.

The crop is reported as backward.

Drought in some sections and heavy rains and floods in others have caused injury," the department says. Cinch bug and Hessian fly are at work in many localities. Harvesting has begun in the southwest.

"Condition of the rye crop generally is good. The crop is heading quite generally. Spring wheat mostly is up to good stands, but backward in growth. Oats are in fair condition only, needing sunshine and warmer weather. Barley is in excellent condition as a rule. Corn planting has been delayed by rains while early planted corn is weedy.

"Stands generally are good but the crop as a whole is backward.

Peaches are showing improvemise though dropping heavily in Atment while apples have good promlantic coast orchards. The outlook for fruits generally is good.

Livestock generally is in good condition though rather thin in eastern areas due to short pasturage. "Sugar cane generally is in good condition and sugar beets promise a large acreage. "The general shortage of farm labor continues."

$3,000 Appropriation For University Ave., Extension Recommended

An appropriation of $3,000 will be recommended to the city council Friday night for initial work on University avenue extension cutting the original request of $4,000. The cut was made upon advice of E. E. Parker, city engineer, who appeared before the finance committee at its meeting Monday night.

The funds when allowed will be used to pay for preliminary work on maps and to secure options if possible. The committee also will recommend that $375 be allowed for a special policeman at Tenney park during the summer months. The policeman will patrol the park during the night.

Says State Labor in Favor of Return of Beer and Light Wines

General Executive Board Of State Federation Makes Report

That organized labor of Wisconsin is in favor of the return of beer and light wines is the statement made in the preliminary report of the general executive board of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor ,which will be submitted at the annual state convention.

The report also endorses the proposal to curb the powers of the U. S. supreme court.

The report is signed by Henry Ohl, Jr., Eugene H. Killian, Charles Nickolaus, William H. Sommers, James P. Sheehan, William F. Giese, George S. Harris, George J. Schneider, William Coleman, Frank J. Janda and J. J. Handley.

On the question of prohibition the report says:

"Any one who has studied the wants and demands of the people of Wisconsin knows that this matter is not one of past memory but is ever present. In the wild confusion resulting from restricting a custom and privilege at least as old as recorded history, every method imaginable his been fostered by different groups to get relief from the detrimental effects of the 18th amendment and subsequent statutory legislation through the Volstead act, which has created an army of officious parasites to feast at the expense of personal privilege. The position of organized labor in favor of moderation, but not of prohibition, is the same today as in the past. We do not believe that this question will ever be solved until the people shall be permitted the use of wholesome beer and wine. Our recommendation is that efforts toward this end continue so that the demands of the people may be met and their rights restored."

"Organized labor has from time to time demanded legislation which would make congress—the people's representative—something more than an agent empowered to submit the will of the people to a judicial oligarchy for approval. There are now pending in congress several resolutions seeking to halt the courts in their growing demination. Senator La Follette's proposal provides: 1. That no inferior federal jude shall set aside a law of congress on grounds of unconstitutionality. 2. If the supreme court assumes to decide any law of congress unconstitutional, or, by interpretation, undertakes to assert a public policy at variance with the statutory declaration of congress, the congress may, by reenacting the law, nullify the action of the court. Congressman Frear of Wisconsin would prevent an act being declared unconstitutional except by unanimous decision of the court. Mr. Frear's proposal further provides that "Congress shall have power to determine how many members of the supreme court shall join in any decision that declares unconstitutional acts of congress, sets aside or limits the effect of any federal or state law, and may further provide by law for the recall, without impeachment proceedings, of any judge of the court, or a review or setting aside of any such court decision, providing that not less than two-thirds of the vote of both houses shall agree to such recall or review.' Senator Borah proposes that the supreme court shall not declare acts of congress unconstitutional except by the concurrence of all but two of the nine members of the court. The danger of the courts' absolute control of law making has not escaped even the more conservative elements, as indicated by a proposal of Senator Fess of Ohio, who is recognized as a 'safe' conservative. Senator Fess' plan is to require a two-thirds vote of the court to set aside an act of congress as unconstitutional.

"Whatever the prospects may be for effective legislation along the lines of the foregoing proposals, it must be recognized by women workers that organization is essential not only in securing legislation, but in the enforcement of conditions whether established by law or through collective agreement. Weurge, therefore, that every effort be made to prevail upon our lawmakers to take from the courts the power now wielded by them without warrant. The difficulty in organizing women into labor unions are by no means insurmountable and nothing should be left undone to acquaint them with the dangers that come from lack of organization."

'23 to Pass Pipe of Peace to '24 In Old Ceremony

The tribe of 1924 will gather around the fire on lower campus on the evening of June 15 at 11 o'clock to receive the Pipe of Peace from the tribe of 1923.

This is a ceremony that has been observed by every graduating class in the university since 1895.

It was originally an old Indian custom. In the days of the French regime no greater honor could be conferred upon a stranger than to have the calumet, or the great pipe, presented to him. From that time on the one that received this distinction was honored as the son of the tribe—the one to be followed in times of peace and war.

The calumet ceremony consists of two parts—the presentation of the great pipe, and the calumet dance and the singing of the chant.

As a university ceremony it has the following significance: the graduating class, with the presentation of the Pipe of Peace, extends the hand of brotherhood and friendship to its successors, and safeguards them with the university traditions.

There is a tendency for each graduating class to make the ceremony more elaborate and dignified than the preceding years. During the last few years girls have participated in the event.

Arthur Inman will be the spokesman of the Tribe of 1923. Harold Seering, of the stranger tribe, will deliver the response.

The Pipe of Peace has been kept in the historical museum for the last three years. The colors of all the graduating classes from the year 1895 are fastened to the pipe.

Friday Night Is Dedicated to All Old Graduates

Mail Order Sale For 1923 Class Play Open at Union Building

Alumni from all parts of the country who will journey back to Madison for their class reunions of '03s and '08s will attend the senior play, Friday night as the first reunion activity.

The secretaries from many of the classes have felt that the undergraduate activity on Friday night will give an unusual opportunity for an informal uniting before any of the meetings and events of Saturday and Sunday.

The oldest class to reserve seats for the play thus far is the class of 1888 which has asked for 35 seats. The Friday night performance has been dedicated to the alumni and the majority of the seats will be blocked out for class groups and returning graduates.

The performance Thursday evening is for the seniors, the townspeople and those remaining over after examinations. The mail order sale for both performances opened during the early part of this week and many reservations are being made.

The headquarters for the senior play managers are in the Union building, 752 Langdon street and communications and mail order applications should be addressed there. Approximately 300 seats for the Thursday performance have been reserved thus far, according to Walter A. Frautschi, business manager of the play.

The open sale of tickets for "The Road to Yesterday" will open June 12. Mail orders will be given preference and will be mailed out early next week.

"The senior play is by seniors and is primarily for them. The play is a good play and is funny. It is a part of the commencement program and as such every senior should attend the play either Thursday or Friday," Tannewitz declared last night.

Supreme Court Rules Against La Crosse City

Sees No Cause Of Action Against Power Company

The Supreme court held in a decision today that the city of La Crosse had no cause of action against the Minnesota Light and Power Co. over electric rates charged by that company, until the railroad commission has determined new schedules of rates to apply as a result of a former court decision prohibiting the "loop system" of rate making.

The right of the La Crosse Lutheran hospital to deny Herman E. Wolf and Elef Smedal the privilege of practicing in that hospital was upheld by the Supreme court today. The court sustained the decision of the lower tribunal which quashed writ of mandamus obtained by the plaintiffs.

PLANT IVY ON KNOLL; CUSTOM SINCE 1854

The planting of the ivy, one of the oldest customs of the class day exercises, will take place at 3:30 o'clock Friday, June 15, at Muir Knoll.

The ivy-planting custom originated at Oxford university and has been a practice here since the first class day exercise in 1854. Many buildings on the campus are now covered with ivy as the result of this custom.

The program is in charge of Leslie Gage, planter of the ivy, Mildred Downie and Isabel Capps, who will give the ivy ode, and Frances Karel, who will give the ivy oration.

Fox Avenue Lots

West Lawn Addition

Offered at Special Sale

The fine thing about them is that they are out in the suburbs, yet very easily reached. Two to four blocks from the car line, a short distance from Randall School, churches and stores, they afford an excellent site for a family residence. Fox Avenue is the last street in the West Lawn District to be paved, therefore it is the last to be built up. It is the only street in the West Lawn District where good, residential sites can now be purchased at a low cost. Water, gas, and sewer mains are already in and paid for. Sidewalks are almost completed and are included in the price of the property. The paving and curbs are under construction at the present time.

It's Easy To Own A Home of Your Own

You just have to be willing to go after it in the proper spirit and the proper way. The proper spirit is that of self denial, passing up the little, expensive things to build a fund for the greatest of all things—a home. The proper way is to buy good property—property which is developing and increasing in value—a place where neighbors will be pleasant and your own family happy. Just such a place is Fox Avenue.

Terms As Low As $100 Down and $10 per Month

This special offer will be in effect only through the next two weeks. The prices of the individual lots range from $1,000 to $1,500 and every one is a real bargain. There are only a few lots remaining—go out early to make your choice. To reach the lots by street car, get off at the corner of Harrison and Keyes Avenue, walk two blocks north on Keyes and one block north on Edgewood. If you motor out, park your car at Keyes and Edgewood, then walk one block north to Fox Avenue. (Edgewood is now being paved.)

German Trio Pleases With Concert Here

Sacred And Folk Songs Are Feature Of Benefit Musical Event

BY EUNICE NECKERMAN

The concert given last evening in the Methodist church by the Artiste Trio of Stuttgart, Germany, gave Madisonians the unusual opportunity of hearing typically German musicians in a German program. Frau Emma Tester, Fraulein Meta Diestel, and Herr Herman Keller have been touring the United States for several months appearing in benefit concerts for Germany's starving children, keeping only enough money to pay their bare expenses. They have received capacity houses everywhere, being applauded for their cause as well as for their musicianship. The trio was brought to Madison through the efforts of Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman.

The concert last evening was comprised of sacred songs and folk songs, most of them in German, and a few organ solos by Mr. Keller. Mr. Keller has a smooth and agile technique and a rich tone, he played Bach, Reger, and Handel. Mrs. Tester sang a number of Schubert lieder, showing a powerful high voice. Her voice, which is very clear, was particularly pleasing in the folk-song "Die Lorelei," which she gave as an encore to her first group. The Erlking was sung with deep feeling, and Handel's "Er weidet seine Herde" was also well received. Miss Diestal, who has a rich, velvety contralto voice, sang "Abide with me" with a smooth legato quality, and several lighter lieder. The audience seemed to enjoy her singing of folk-songs even more than her sacred songs. The duets which she and Mrs. Tester sang were the most enjoyable numbers on the program, the audience would have liked "Muss i' denn" repeated. Mr. Keller showed his skillful musicianship as accompanist as well as soloist.

Louise Wright, March of the Boy Scouts, Mokre, The Blacksmith, Carl Rentschler.

MONROE—A carload of grade Holstein cattle was shipped from here to Neillsville to be used in building up Clark county herds.

NEKOOSA—A class of sixteen students will be graduated from the local high school on June 4.

Daily School News Notes

Peg Walker (Editor)

FOUR students at Sacred Heart academy will present a piano recital Wednesday. They are Mary Watts, Marion Murphy, Alice Watts and Margaret Keating.

Alice Watts will open the program with Palmgren's "En Route." She will also play an "Intermezzo in Octaves" by Leschetisky. Marion Murphy will present Palmgren's "May Night" and "The Sea." MacDowell's "The Eagle" will be played by Margaret Keating. She will play a "Prelude" Op. 23, No. 5, by Rachmaninoff, too. The selections to be played by Mary Watts are Arensky's "Etude" Op. 36, No. 13, and Debussey's "Prelude in A Minor."

They will play a quartet with the Watts sisters at one piano and Marion Murphy and Margaret Keating at the other. The selection will be "Ride of the Valkyries" by Wagner-Chevillard.

ORCHESTRA PROGRAM

Uniting their efforts, the Central big band East Side high orchestras, under the leadership of John L. Jaquish, and assisted by Varsity Quartet, will present a number of standard and symphonic numbers, Thursday, June 7, at the Central high school auditorium. Following is the program:

"Unfinished Symphony," first movement by F. Shubert; Andante from "Surprise Symphony," by Joseph Haden; selections by the Varsity Quartet; "Highland Laddies," Scotch Melodies, by J. S. Seredy; "Blue Danube Waltz."

High school students will be given an opportunity to witness the first preliminary contest, Wednesday afternoon. Classes are to be excused early so all may attend. The second preliminary is for grade school pupils, Thursday afternoon. Thursday evening's concert will be open to the public and admission will be charged.

Proceeds will be used to send the members of the fifty piece Central high band to the Wisconsin boys' band tournament at Two Rivers, June 15 and 16.

Last year the band won first prize of $200 and an enormous silver loving cup, at the tournament at Kilbourn. This is the second year of the band's existence, it being listed at the present time in Class A. Selections will be played in the auditorium by the band to boost the concert. Publicity is in charge of John Bach and Roland Endres, both members of the orchestra.

Business men, various organizations and clubs, and individuals can help boost the band by buying tickets and attending the concert.

How You May Change Your Face Completely

Any woman not satisfied with her complexion can easily remove it and have a new one. The thin veil of stifling half-dead cuticle is an encumbrance and should be removed to give the fresh, vigorous, young skin underneath a chance to show itself and to breathe. There's a simple old-fashioned remedy which will always do the work. Get an ounce of pure mercolized wax from your druggist and apply at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. The wax gently absorbs all the lifeless skin, leaving a healthy, beautiful complexion, fresh as a child's. Naturally it takes with it all such blemishes as freckles, moth patches, sallowness, liver spots, pimples. It is pleasant to use, and economical. The face so treated soon looks years younger.—Adv.

Madge Kennedy Plans Musical Comedy Debut

This Picture Looks as If She's Going Into Housekeeping

I AM sure when you see this picture of Miss Kennedy you will be sure we made a mistake and put a picture of a June bride in the column. But it is Madge Kennedy herself in her picture "The Purple Highway." Isn't she pretty? And we are informed that she is to appear in a new picture which is to be shown on board the giant liner Leviathan on its initial trip. What the name of the picture is our informant failed to tell us. All we know about it is that the role is an emotional one.

Next season Miss Kennedy is planning an advent into musical comedy. It will not be her first venture into the legitimate. She studied with the Art Student's League in New York City and made her debut there in amateur theatricals before going on the stage, then played in stock in Cleveland, O., for two years, and then in leading comedy roles in such plays as "Little Miss Brown," "Fair and Warmer," "Twin Beds," etc. Then her screen career began for Goldwyn in "Baby Mine," "Nearly Married," etc.

In all the things in which she has pleased her admirers, however, we venture to say that she never looked prettier than in the bride-like raiment in this picture.

Madge Kennedy.

MIKE IN PICTURES

Mike—Baseball Mike—Donlin is in pictures.

Mike is a great business man. And he seems to know the amusement world, quite as well as he formerly knew baseball (not that he has forgotten much about that game either).

Now he is appearing with Herbert Rawlinson in "Thicker Than Water" and which he will follow with several more film appearances. Lionel Bellmore, David Torrence and Esther Ralston also are listed in the cast.

THESE PROBLEMS ARE RAISED IN "THE NIGHTCAP"

Has a man the right to do away with his own life in order to protect the good name of those who have trusted in him? Is he justified in demanding that one of these, whom he sought to protect, do the killing for him in order that his life insurance will not be held back because of a suicide verdict? What on earth would this man do when another man, instead of himself; another man whose wife had been a former boyhood sweetheart of his, was killed instead? And not only killed but shot in his home, the victim of a mysterious assassin but with all the blame focused on the man who wanted to die himself. Those are a few of the problems that present themselves in the brilliant play that is being presented by the Dorothy La Vern Stock Co. at the Orpheum theater all this week. Acclaimed another "Bat" by critics, "The Nightcap," is more than a fascinating play filled with gripping and laughter enticing characters. It is a dramatic offering, tempered with all sorts of infectious laughter, dressed in clever dialogue, filled with new situations and carrying a delightful love story.

FILM IS GRAPHIC PAGE FROM RAILROAD LIFE

Today and tomorrow furnish the final opportunities of seeing "Westbound Limited" at the Parkway. It is a graphic page from the life of a railroad engineer and his family, thrillingly and fascinatingly told. From the opening scene to the final flicker the atmosphere of railroad life is well sustained and there is not a red blooded man or woman in America who does not thrill to the sight of a giant locomotive plunging and tearing along the rails. The comedy feature is Lloyd Hamilton's new comedy, "F. O. B." in which this distinguished fun maker surpasses all his previous efforts. Raymond Coy plays "Bobbie" as the organ solo and the usual Kinograms News Weekly and Pathe Review complete the program.

Starting Thursday for three days only Colleen Moore and Antonio Moreno will be the attraction in Rupert Hughes' latest picture, "Look Your Best," a delightful comedy of the perils of eating too much. As an additional attraction, the latest round of "The Leather Pushers" with Reginald Denny will be on the program.

"THE SOUL OF THE BEAST" IS COMING

Starting Wednesday at the Strand, Madge Bellamy and Cullen Landis in Thos. H. Ince's "The Soul of the Beast." As a special added feature there will also be shown the exclusive movies of the school children's festival which will be held at Camp Randall.

Last times today Ralph Connor's "The Man from Glengerry," and Al St. John comedy, The City Chap."

DRAMA IS STORY FROM REAL LIFE

"The Nth Commandment," now showing at the Madison, is another 'Humoresque.' Just as human, just as true to life, just as finely acted. In fact everyone is going to talk about the work of Colleen Moore as the brave little wife in this story of New York's upper and under worlds. Fannie Hurst's works are always worth while and this one is a treat for any film fan. "The Nth Commandment" is a page from life. The same story is being lived every day not only in New York but right here in Madison. Its human interests moments will strum at the heart strings of any spectator. There is a full quota of dramatic situations. Mr. Lagerquist's songologue number, "Dreamy Melody," with some original variations, makes a decided hit with the audience.

POLITICAL BACKGROUND IN "RUSTLE OF SILK"

Conway Tearle and Betty Compson are now playing at the Majestic theater in "The Rustle of Silk." The story starts in England after the war. Mr. Tearle, as Arthur Fallaray, has a bitter enemy, Paul Chalfont, who secretly owns a newspaper and who is endeavoring to get something on Fallaray to prevent him from becoming prime minister. Chalfont is an intimate friend of Lady Fee's, Fallaray's wife, and when the latter finds some love letters, written to her husband by Lola de Breze (Miss Compson), who never intended that any one, much less Fallaray, should see them, he takes them on the pretext of arranging for a divorce. Then comes a novel climax, which makes this production different from the average screen story. The latest news weekly and a Comedy Cartoon are the added features.

Shriners Out To Put Lid On Profiteering

400,000 Delegates To Meet Cause Big Boost In Rent, Food

Washington Bureau,
Capital Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A swarm of Washington profiteers who have been sharpening their stingers in anticipation of the arrival here of 400,000 visitors to the Shriners' convention, including Madison visitors today invoked the wrath of the committee of Almas temple that is completing arrangements for this great event.

Scores of Shriners have been rushing about the city informing hotel and restaurant keepers and all sorts of vendors that any attempt to gouge Shriners and their friends will be met with swift reprisal.

Prices have advanced to wartime levels, when Washington profiteers were said to be the most greedy in all the land. Unless they are brought back to a decent base, local Shriners say, a boycott against the offenders will be declared.

Every Shriner in Wisconsin will be advised of the situation and urged to cooperate with the local committee in giving the profiteers what the convention terms a "much-needed lesson." As the visitors arrive here they will be enlisted in the boycott movement directed against commodities that have been inflated in expectation of an unprecedented demand.

Notice is being served on ice cream manufacturers and vendors that Shriners will be urged to cut their product off their diet list unless the price goes back to normal. This week it was boosted above the war-time prices.

Restauranteurs have revised their cards, according to local Shriners, the sky being the limit of prices demanded. Names of owners of these profiteering resorts will be passed on to Wisconsin visitors with a "Please don't patronize" request.

It is predicted that Shriners and their friends will spend $40,000,000 during the period of the convention.

Battery Case Attorneys In Talk Marathon

Lawyers Speak Hours In Court Battle Over Patents

While the thermometer bubbles around 80 degrees and all Madison seeks comfort from the torrid heat, lawyers in the suit of the Burgess Battery Co. against the French Battery and Carbon Co. are staging a verbal marathon in Judge E. Ray Stevens' circuit court room.

Arguments in the record-breaking case began last Monday afternoon. H. H. Thomas, representing the Burgess firm, started the verbal battle, talking for a day and a half. E. J. B. Schubring, defendant's attorney, argued the rest of the week. Thomas began his reply to Schubring's arguments today. Arguments are expected to take up the rest of the week.

The suit which started last August over an alleged infringement of patents, set a record in Dane county. More than 100 days were necessary for taking testimony.

Judge Stevens will give the case his immediate attention as soon as the arguments are over, and decision in the matter may be expected within a few weeks.

Officers' Case Comes Before Police Board Again Tuesday Night

Further action of the police and fire commission in dealing with Lieut. Ole Sefland and Detective Jesse Smith of the police force in connection with the escape of John L. Whitfield, Cleveland slayer, will probably be taken tonight when the commission holds its regular monthly meeting.

Review of the testimony taken at the special hearing of last Tuesday night will be made before any action is taken. Board members are unwilling to give any indications as to their feelings in the matter.

Big Bills Up In Legislature During Week

Taxes once more will hold the attention of the senate this week. The three general income tax bills before the upper house are scheduled for consideration, as well as highway tax bills. The Huber unemployment insurance bill will have the right of way on Tuesday in the senate, while on Thursday the assembly will turn again to prohibition for its diversion at the time the Tucker bill providing for repeal of the Severson law is on the calendar.

Wednesday is listed as a field day for tax bills. The senators expect, however, that the introduction of substitute amendments may postpone final consideration of the bills. If voted on, the finance committee bill is said by all factions, to stand the best chance of passing. Gov. Blaine's tax bill is second on the list for consideration, with the Severson surtax measure third on the list.

Wets in the assembly are looking for a revival of anti-prohibition action on Thursday when the Tucker bill providing for repeal of the Severson prohibition enforcement law is up for action. The anti-prohibitionists in control of the lower house are claiming that they can pass the measure through the assembly. They are not counting on success in the senate, however.

Mowry Paper Will Be Read At Convention

A paper prepared by Don E. Mowry, secretary of the Madison Association of Commerce will be read by C. F. The topic of the paper is "Effective Commercial Advertising from the Standpoint of Community Organizations." Mr. Mowry was to have read the paper, but he will be unable to attend the convention.

Breakfast For U. W. Alumni On June 18

The annual Y. M. C. A. breakfast for alumni and friends of students interested in the work of the association will be given from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock Monday morning, June 18. The breakfast will be over in time for the senior picture at 8:45 o'clock.

The alumni member of the Board of Directors of the university will be elected at this meeting. Verne Varney '17 and Leo Kohl '22, former association presidents, will be among the speakers. Mrs. Ruth Stolte Albright will talk for the women. The Varsity quartet of '91-'92 has been invited to sing at this meeting, since the members are planning a reunion this commencement.

This will be the third year that the breakfast has been given. Last year the attendance was double that of the previous year.

Alumni who are sustaining members of the Y association are invited to stay as the association free of charge during the commencement week-end. The remainder of the rooms in the dormitories may be rented by seniors desiring rooms for their fathers and brothers at 75 cents a night.

Athletes And Phi Betes Take Part In Play

Athletes and Phi Beta Kappa mingle in this year's senior play, proof that the drama finds its material in all lines of activity.

Rudolph Hohlfeld who plays the lead in the play, for the past two years has played tackle on Wisconsin's eleven. Two years ago he was given honorable mention on one of Walter Camp's All-American selections. From fighting athlete to winsome hero is not such a great step, Hohlfeld claims.

Another athlete is Lee McCandless who is a quarter-miler on the Badger track squad. He also runs the relay and the dashes. In the play he is a comic character and plays the part of Adrian Tomkins.

Dora Ingrahm in addition to dramatic activities during the past few years has succeeded in winning the Phi Beta Kappa key and she declares that studying does not necessarily interfere with participation in college activities.

Wilbur Katz is also a Phi Bete from this year's elections. His record also shows that activities and scholarship do mingle.

MRS. BUTLER'S TERRIBLE PAINS

Vanished After Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

W. Philadelphia, Pa. — "When I cleaned house last April I must have overlifted, for after that I had pains and aches all the time and was so discouraged I could hardly do my own housework, and I could not carry a basket of groceries from the store nor walk even four or five squares without getting terrible pains in my back and abdomen and lower limbs. I went to visit a friend in Mt. Holly, N. J., and she said, 'Mrs. Butler, why don't you take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' My husband said that if it did her so much good for the same trouble, I should try it. So I have taken it and it is doing me good. Whenever I feel heavy or bad, it puts me right on my feet again. I am able to do my work with pleasure and am getting strong and stout."—Mrs. CHARLES BUTLER, 1233 S. Hanson St., W. Philadelphia, Pa.

You Make No Mistake in Investing in First Mortgages and First Mortgage Bonds

For over a century first mortgages have been the most favored form of investment. During the last several decades first mortgage bonds have ranked high with American investors. These two forms of securities have weathered every financial storm that America has gone through. Never does the owner of a first mortgage or first mortgage bond need to worry about the security of his funds. They are secured by America's greatest asset—real property.

The first mortgages and first mortgage bonds offered by this company are especially attractive to the investor who desires a safe investment bringing him a fair return. Each security is investigated carefully and purchased with our own money before it is offered to a client. This is why we have established our record of fifteen years in business without loss to an investor.

"Blues" and "Reds" Settle Argument at Blanchardville Thursday

Each Have Won 2 Tilts; Heavy Hitter Wanted By Lenahan

"Field Day" Occasion For Big Tilt This Week

THE temporary supremacy of either the Madison Blues or Twin Cities Red Sox will be decided at Blanchardville on Thursday when these two teams will clash as the big feature of a "Field Day" to be held there.

The two teams have played four games, the Red Sox winning the first two at Kipp field and the Blues retaliating by copping the second series at the Twin Cities diamond.

Lenahan has made changes in the team during the past week, and more are expected before many more games are played. Efforts are being made to get a player who can wield the stick forcibly and send the apple sailing over the garden wall occasionally as did various members of the Union Giants aggregation.

The Blues have a fast aggregation, and despite the fact that the Union Giants trimmed them in three games last week-end, it must be remembered that Lenahan's men out-hit their opponents.

The colored team is an exceptionally high class aggregation this season and are going strong.

Criqui Plans Tour; Meets Dundee Soon

NEW YORK — Eugene Criqui, France's new pugilistic idol, who toppled the veteran, Johnny Kilbane, from the world's feather-weight throne on Saturday at the Polo grounds, has arranged a five weeks' exhibition tour of New York state and New England before defending his newly won title against Johnny Dundee, New York challenger.

This announcement was made on Monday by Criqui's manager, Robert Eudeline, who said details of the trip would be completed on Tuesday.

Gopher Baseball Nine Loses To Hawks 3 To 1

IOWA CITY — Marshall pitched great ball this afternoon and hooked Minnesota, 3 to 1, in Iowa's final game of the season. The Hawks finished with .500. Gordon Locke, all-American quarterback, closed his college career. The crowd cheered him to the echo. Marshall only let twelve men face him in four innings and was unsolvable except in the fifth. Laude was Iowa's fielding star because of a spectacular running catch.

Announce Scholarships For Fourteen Women

The committee on undergraduate scholarships has selected 14 women for undergraduate cash scholarships and will recommend them to the faculty. Names will be announced at commencement exercises with the conferring of other scholarships. The total amount of these scholarships to be awarded is $2,130. This is the largest sum that has ever been given out in cash scholarships. The amount is the gift of 11 organizations and persons.

The Fanny P. Lewis scholarships of $250 each will be given to two undergraduate women. A. A. U. W. also gives two scholarships each amounting to $200.

The two Kate Hughes Cleveland scholarships each equal $150. Two scholarships from the Amelia M. Doyon fund are $140 each.

Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority gives a scholarship of $150 each year. Gamma Phi Beta gives one of $100. The Mortar Board scholarship is also $100 as is the one given by W. A. A. S. G. A. has recently donated a yearly scholarship of $100.

The Crucible scholarship which has just been announced is $50. The Christian R. Stein scholarship is also for $50.

Wisconsin scholarships which were announced in March amounted to $500. One hundred scholarships of $50 each were given out.

The legislative scholarships which exempt from the $124 non-resident tuition will number 182. Of these the board of regents will recommend 168 to be given to students who have a record in the university.

The cash scholarships and the legislative scholarships will be announced after commencement if the student's record has been high.

Class Of '23 Comes From All Over World

Wisconsin's senior class has students from 40 states of the United States and 20 students from almost as many foreign nations of the world.

The only states which do not have representatives in the senior class are Rhode Island, Connecticut, South Caroline, Maryland, Wyoming, Florida, Utah and Arizona. These states are represented in other classes. From Maine to California there are students who expect to take degrees at Wisconsin's commencement and who will have this university as their alma mater.

New Orleans sends one student and two seniors come from Washington, D. C. East Las Vegas, New Mexico and Missoula, Montana are the home towns of some of the other seniors. Wilmington, Delaware, and Walpole, New Hampshire, are the homes of two students from Foreign students come from places east of the sun and west of the moon, from the tropics and from the land of the midnight sun. One senior's home is Bergen, Norway, while another comes from Bangkok, Siam.

China has the largest number of students in the graduating class. Shanghai, Shensi, Peking, Wuhu, and Wusieh Kiangsu are some of the cities in China that have students at Wisconsin.

12 Americans in British Open at Troon, Scotland

LONDON — Twelve Americans are among the 222 golfers entered in the British open championship at Troon, Scotland, next week. The qualifying rounds Monday and Tuesday will eliminate all but eighty of the entrants. The competitors include 168 professionals and twenty-four amateurs.

The American entrants are: Walter Hagen, holder of the British open title; Gene Sarzen, American open champion; Jim Barnes, Pelham, N. Y.; Charles Hoffner, Philadelphia; Johnny Farrell, Quaker Ridge, N. Y.; Tommy D. Armour, New York; George Aulbach, Boston; J. Thompson, Richmond, Va.; McDonald Smith, San Francisco; F. W. Clarke, Shaeville, N. C.; Leo Diegel, Washington, and Harry Brawn, Mexico City.

More Athletes For U. W. Yost On a "Visit"

BESSEMER, Michigan — Backed by the old graduates of Michigan, the Gogebic range organizations are planning an elaborate reception for Coach Fielding H. Yost of Ann Arbor when he comes on June 6. At the banquet to be held in his honor the principal speakers will be A. E. Pedrer of Bessemer, a former football star under Yost, Judge Harry K. Ray of Ironwood and Senator W. E. Treutter of Bessemer. Yost will make an address and talk to the letter men from the various high schools along the range. The program for this entertainment takes in several towns through the scenic part of the country.

Herman-Firpo Bout Held Over To Sunday

HAVANA — The fifteen round bout between Luis Angel Firpo, the South American heavyweight, and Italian Jack Herman of New York, has been postponed until next Sunday afternoon. The fight originally was to have taken place Sunday afternoon, but on account of heavy rainstorms it was postponed until Monday night. Weather conditions proving unpropitious Monday evening it was decided to again postpone it until next Sunday.

Parkside Congregation Will Erect New Building

A drive for a new edifice will be inaugurated by the Parkside Presbyterian church in a short time. The present church, located on E. Dayton st., has been outgrown, being the barracks formerly used by the Westminster congregation, Wingra park.

The congregation proposes to raise $30,000 for the building, to provide seating capacity for 250 persons. The basement of the new structure would house Sunday school rooms, kitchen and other rooms.

The Parkside church was organized four years ago.

Luse Arrives Here A Week From Sunday

Judge C. Z. Luse of the U. S. District court will arrive in Madison June 10 to take up court matters.

The Farmers State Bank, Hayward, has been named a federal depository by Judge Luse.

A Fortune Here!

Jimmy O'Connell, left, Giants' $75,000 outfielder; Willie Kamm, center, White Sox $100,000 third base rookie, and Jack Bentley, Giant pitcher for whom McGraw paid $65,000.

"When will we three meet again?" seems to be about the topic of conversation here. These three prize baseball packages, for which two baseball clubs paid an aggregate of approximately a quarter of a million dollars, are now fighting for their places in the sun under the handicap of an over-supply of well-meant publicity. They met when the Giants and White Sox were playing their spring series. Will all three of them be sitting pretty and smiling broadly when September fades into October? Let's hope so.

League To Be Organized Of 4 Clubs Here

Rotary, Kiwanis, Roxana And Lions Will Compete

A "Knife and Fork" baseball league, composed of teams representing the Rotary, Kiwanis, Roxana, and Lions club is to be organized here this week, if efforts of George Levis, a Kiwanian, materialize. George has organized such leagues before in Indiana where he coached basketball and baseball.

The Rotary and Roxana clubs have already organized their teams and are playing games, while the Kiwanis and Lions are both organizing teams now.

Today the Rotary club meets Janesville & Janesville.

A meeting is to be called this week by Levis of the captains of the teams and plans for a schedule will be drawn up.

Madison Women Will Attend Convention

Madison women will attend the convention of the Baptist association to be held in Richland Center Wednesday and Thursday. The Madison delegates are Mrs. A. L. Stone, Mrs. C. A. Smith, Mrs. E. E. Halliday, Mrs. Walter P. Holmes, Mrs. C. E. Schreiber, Mrs. J. E. Gillin and Mrs. A. Tressler.

Time Up Tuesday On Second No. For Elks' Car

Will No. 12,175 the second winning number on the Elk's car go by the board as 14,616? The former's five days will be up Tuesday after which all claim to the Hupmobile will be given up by the holder. The fact that neither of the numbers has been claimed is a puzzle to officials in charge of the pageant.

Pi Beta Phi will entertain at an alumnae banquet on Wednesday, June 13. Covers will be laid for 40.

Roundy Says:

If Mitchell Stopped The Boxing Game In Illinois He Deserves A Medal

They are yelling now that Richie Mitchell stopped boxing in Illinois. If they conduct it on the manner that the Leonard and Pinkey Mitchell fight was staged then Mitchell has done the state of Illinois a favor.

* * *

The game is controlled by one clique and their main object is to see that they collect their bois. Fights staged on this basis kill the game.

* * *

There is no gamer boy in the ring than Richie Mitchell and no cleaner boy out of it, every inch a gentleman and a credit to the game. But if you saw that last round, you would have done some mixing yourself in that place. Mitchell should go down as a hero for stopping boxing in that state, if they were conducted as that one was.

* * *

The bout was for charity. Yes. Leonard got his $25,000 and training expenses. Mitchell got $10,000 and paid his own expenses. The west side boys, who were going to get the benefit out of this as a whole, got $25 and were lucky to get that.

In that ball game Sunday Kleinheinz dropped a fly ball that he could have caught easy. There was a man on first and of course he never moved as he figured the big centerfielder had it easy. Kleinheinz then pegged the ball to second retiring the runner on first. The Times scorer, Tenny, gave him an error; Kleinheinz should get an assist on that play due to the fact it is a force play. Big argument over that came up in Francy's barber shop and Eddie Page won his first straight "million argument."

* * *

Remember Him.

I got a letter from Arthur "Zizzie" Johnson, an old Madison boy, who pitched in the W. I. league here. He used to chase balls for the Madison team and rack up bats and would pitch that ball all day to any kid that would catch. He then joined a team and "pitched a no-hit game in the league and was a winning pitcher all the time." He then pitched for Birmingham in the Southern league for years. He sends all his best to the Madison fans who remember him, and wishes the local team a world of luck. He sends his best to Donalson and Lennahan. Art is married now and has pitched ball ever since he left Madison. He quit the game for good last year.

* * *

Pete Esser of Cross Plains would like to meet the Middleton fan who wrote me that letter, Queensberry rules, in an alley or with a gun. Cross Plains has the consent of the league heads to use an extra man or two from another town and are not breaking any rules. Pete Esser is a regular fellow, a true blood sport and when Middleton plays Cross Plains there should be some pep a yffing.

Some time ago you said the Yanks would not win the American league flag this year. I will go you one better, Roundy, and name six others that won't. Boston, Cleveland, Washington, St. Louis, Chicago and Philadelphia. Yours truly, Gay Hanson.

* * *

I said Michigan would win the track meet or gave them the edge. They won the Western title by half a point. But I guess the rats the Yanks are going, I made a bum guess, Hauson.

* * *

There are some men in town here that will bet money and in piles, that Miss "Pete" Peterson can go out and play field for Madison and make good easy. She can hit left or right handed and can curve a ball and get a fast one that has a hop on it for further orders. They say Miss Peterson can hit over 300, on the team and can throw any man out from deep field on a fly caught ball and has a hook slide down that Cobb would blush with shame at. It is said she can kick a football over forty yards. They are going to see if she can get a tryout on the Madison team. She plays out on the eastside and draws a large crowd every evening. One man that was a great ball player in his day states she is the greatest woman ball player in America by a wide margin and they say she can pull them down with one mitt and scoop them up and do it like Speaker. And can circle the bases in less than 16 seconds. I never saw her but I am getting letters and calls every day on the great work she can do and fans are stopping me on the street and saying that she can do all of this.

The Checker cab wins another game. They beat Cottage Grove and are out to beat the world now. Score 4 to 3 rather close for taxi outfit as they get all they can.

Kilbane gets knocked out. Kilbane has been done a long time. Goes into the ring around 40 years, grey hair and defending a world's title that belongs in America. He would not fight for the last six years and always wanted a cool million to show his powder puff punching stuff to the fans. He has run out of more matches in the last six years than Babe Ruth has made home-runs.

* * *

That letter I received and the name signed Harvey Hunch was good and I thank you very much.

* * *

Dear Roundy—I am in Shelby and have been for a long time. "Some town. Figured that a letter to you would be a welcome thing. Have seen both men in action out here. They are wild here for this battle and Gibbons has most of the wise-guys here on him at the 3 to 1 stuff. And Gibbons sure looks like a real battler while Dempsey is the champion but is far from that 185 pounds that the papers state his weight is. Never saw him on scales but my guess is 195 or more. Yours truly. Mack McCarthy. McCarthy the people will remember used to be a fellow that used to sing a lot around town here and who used to be at Camels' billiard hall a lot.

Illinois Protest Not Received By Committee

If Suckers Are Upheld, Big Ten Honors Will Go To Them

CHICAGO — The protest of Coach Harry Gill of the University of Illinois track team against Referee Charles A. Dean's decision to throw out the hurdle race in the western conference track meet Saturday, was not received by secretary Joseph McNab of the graduate committee yesterday. It is possible the appeal will be received today.

A reversal of Dean's decision would give the meet to Illinois and deprive Michigan of top honors. The possibilities of the reversal are slim, however. Members of the committee seemed satisfied with Dean's ruling Saturday. Then, too, the fact that the meet has been awarded and a reversal would cause another stampede of protest is expected to bear influence.

Michigan is offered an opportunity to get a championship with no specks on it when the national collegiate meet is held at Stagg Field a week from Saturday. Illinois is likewise given a chance to get revenge by trimming the Wolverines.

The national meet will be a much more complicated affair than the conference, with the best men of all sections represented. Neither Michigan nor Illinois can expect to do as well as they did in the Big Ten meet, but the title should rest between those two schools.

Many Will Attend Municipalities Meet

A large representation of city officials will probably go from Madison for the annual convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities which will be held at Stevens Point June 12, 13 and 14.

Traffic and other civic problems will be discussed. Arrangements are now being made by members of the council to drive there.

Brooklyn Robins Are Going Big; Now In Tie For Second In League

Trim Pirates 5 To 3 And Land But One-half Game From Giants In First Place; Cy Williams Gets 20th Homer; Fillingim Victim

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—The Brooklyn Robins continuing their marvelous pace are tied for second place with Pittsburg today as a result of their victory over the Pirates, yesterday 5 to 3. The Brooklyn aggregation drew a half game nearer the league leading Giants as the latter team was idle. The Robins, making their own opportunities for Pittsburg now, is counted the strongest team in the west. The Philadelphia Athletics back for a prolonged stay on their own grounds, will hold receptions for the western teams they found easy. The Yanks will be receiving western visitors but the Yanks are in low spirits for the time being, losing yesterday to Washington, 5 to 2, the third straight defeat.

Is a Sensation.

Of the two sensation teams of the majors, Brooklyn is going better. It was the fury of its attack that won over the Pirates yesterday for the Pirates had won 12 out of 13 games on their home lot this year and had been fairly successful on the road. The Robins were out-hit but their blows were savage and timely when they meant something.

The Cincinnati Reds continued to lose opportunities by losing to Chicago 8 to 7, in the ninth inning after they had the game won.

More Circuit Clouts.

Jacques Fournier and Tommy Griffith came through with homers against the Pirates and enabled the Dodgers to win and tie Pittsburg for second place. There was a man on when Fournier smashed his four bagger.

"Cy" Williams of the Phillies is widening the gap between himself and Babe Ruth, his American league rival, for home run honors. Babe managed to pole a triple off Zahniser of Washington while Williams smashed out his 20th circuit drive off Fillingim of Boston. Ruth's total of homers is 11.

McInniss in Big Day.

Stuffy McInniss, the former American leaguer, holding down the first base position for the Braves had a great day at the plate. He socked out four hits, one a homer, in five times at bat. He is now batting in the clean-up position.

Ira Flagstead cut loose with a wild throw after three Indians had singled in a row in the ninth inning which cost the Red Sox game.

The Western clubs of the American league are starting their invasion of the east today, while the eastern clubs of the National league are advancing on the west.

Jockey Wins His First Race, Then Dies in Saddle

NEW YORK — After piloting Sweet Kiss to an easy victory in the steeplechase at Belmont Park today, Rider Frank Hayes rode to the judges' stand and fell from the saddle dead. It was the first time he had jockeyed a winning jumper.

When Sweet Kiss gracefully leaped the last barrier and straightened out for the run to the wire, Hayes was seen swaying in the saddle. He slipped to one side, then recovered. Attendants hurried toward him when the race ended, but he toppled to the track before they reached him.

Hayes was 35 years old. His death was said to have been due to heart failure.

Hattendorf Elected Head Of Michigan Track Team

Rogers Hornsby Refuses To Discuss Divorce

ST. LOUIS — Rogers Hornsby today refused to discuss his wife's announced intention to institute divorce proceedings, other than to say "nothing definite was decided on," at a conference with her. He was named in a court of domestic relations action filed recently by John A. Hine, an automobile salesman. Hornsby is recuperating from an injury to his left knee and expects to be back in the Cardinals' lineup in a week.

Take Orders For U. W. Summer Cardinal

The first issue of the Summer Session Cardinal will appear Monday evening, June 25, between 6 and 7 o'clock, and will be delivered every Monday, Wednesday and Friday thereafter at the same time.

The paper will be printed at The Capital Times and will record all university functions and announce all events during the summer semester. Special departments of book reviews and literary criticisms and feature information for the many teachers who attend the session will be included in the issue.

A hill campaign for subscriptions will open registration day, June 23, offering theSummer Cardinal for 01, delivered to any address in the country. Subscriptions may bemade now by mailing check to Walter Plewke at Cardinal business office.

Porter F. Butts '24, managing editor, and Walter H. Plewke '24, business manager, are now organizing the summer staff, which will be announced the first week of the publication. Anyone interested in the work is asked to call Porter Butts, B. 186, or Walter Plewke, B. 5831.

CHILDS STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Ramon Coffman "Uncle Ray"

(Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

CHAPTER 42—MOVING INTO HUTS

During most of the Stone Age, caves were the main homes of men. When the weather was warm, people sometimes camped in the open; but during winter, they seem always to have slept in caves.

Toward the end of the Stone Age, however, a large number of families began making their homes in huts. Remains of huts built at that time have been found in many parts of Europe—as far north as Denmark, as far south as Italy.

An outline of the remains of such a hut in Denmark is contained in our illustration. It is a circle of stones, not quite complete. Space was left for an entrance to the hut. The black circle marks the spot of a rough stone hearth in which fires were built. The hearth was placed near the doorway so that the smoke could escape easily.

The walls of this hut were made of reeds, woven through a framework of branches. This is proved by bits of burned clay found in the rubbish inside the circle of stones. On one side of these little chunks of clay are the marks of interwoven reeds. On the other side are imprints of the fingers and thumbs which pressed the clap into the hut walls. The clay was used to keep out wind and rain. It is believed the hut accidentally caught fire, causing the clay to be baked.

This is a sketch of the remains of a Danish hut.

The men who lived in such huts were both hunters and fishermen. They had rude boats which were used in gathering oysters and other shellfish.

Wild bulls and boars were among the favorite victims of the old Danish hunters. Deer were also brought down frequently, and their bones are among those the old hunters tossed away after eating off the flesh. It is believed that wild dogs often crept up to the camp to gnaw bones which had been thrown away. This was probably one of the ways dogs became acquainted with men and were tamed.

Remember that only part of the people of the Late Stone Age moved out of caves and into huts. Thousands remained in their old homes. They feared to try something new.

Chats With "Uncle Ray"

THE STORY OF THE TYPICAL BOY.

Part 4—How My Type Was "Pied."

To the Boys and Girls of Madison

It so happened that I was acquainted with a man in Madison who ran a poultry magazine, and he had some type for sale. I learned that I could get the type for a small sum, about $3. I had this much money saved, so I bought the type and carried it home in a little brown satchel. I remember that it was winter and there was snow on the ground, but I paid almost no attention to anything except the purchase I had made. I was overjoyed at the thought that I would soon be printing my own magazine. When I got home, I hurried up to my bedroom where I had installed my press. Taking the little instrument which printers call a "composing stick" in my hand, I began to set up what was to be the first thing in the first issue—"A Letter from the Editor."

Perhaps you know that type is set upside down. It was slow work for me, but I didn't mind. This is how the type looked to me:

Dear Boys:

It is impossible for me to express my exhilaration at bei—

It was slow work, but I kept on. It took me perhaps two and a half hours to set up the first three paragraphs of my letter, but I did not mind. I held up the type to see if it was set properly, but somehow I caught my sleeve and the type was "pied!"

You may not know what it means for type to be pied, but every printer does—and groans loudly when it happens. It means that the type you have so carefully put together falls from your hand into a jumbled mass.

I groaned, too; but I think that was one of the most fortunate accidents which ever happened to me.

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND TIPPY'S SLIDE

Copyright, 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Once upon a time as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods, not far from his hollow stump bungalow, the rabbit gentleman saw Bow Wow and little Tippy [illegible] who was Pettie's brother.

"Little doggie boys!" greeted Uncle Wiggily in his jolly voice, with a funny twinkle of his left ear. "You are going to school [illegible]?" he asked.

"Yes, we are going to school," barked Peetie.

"And I know my—my—now— I know my—" Tippy Tumble was trying to say he knew his spelling lesson, but just then Tippy tripped over a leaf on the ground and down he fell, bumping his nose!

"Upsie-daisie!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, helping Tippy to his paws. "Are you hurt?"

"No, thank you," whined Tippy.

"He's always falling down," said Peetie. "How many times have you fallen this morning, Tippy?" he asked.

"Oh, I guess about maybe eleven sixteen!" laughed Tippy himself, for he thought it fun to fall on the soft leaves in the woods.

"Well, be careful you don't fall any more," cautioned Uncle Wiggily as the two puppy dog chaps started away. "Oh, but where is brother Jackie?" asked the rabbit gentleman suddenly.

"He had to stay home with a sore throat," answered Peetie.

"And it hurts him like anything," added Tippy Tumble, which was the pet name of the littlest puppy. "Jackie makes awful funny faces when he swallows and I had to go out of the room so I wouldn't laugh at him 'cause it hurts," barked Tippy.

"Indeed a sore throat does hurt!" declared Uncle Wiggily, "and you were a good puppy boy not to laugh I must do some thing to help Peetie-at Jackie's funny faces, Tippy. But ie, you run along to school and say to the Lady Mouse Teacher that Tippy won't come to class for a little while. He is going off in the woods for me."

"Oh, where am I going?" barked Tippy all excited like as he stumbled and fell over a little stone about as large as the head of a pin.

"You and I are going off in the woods to get some slippery elm for Jackie's sore throat," explained the funny gentleman. "Tell the lady house teacher in the Hollow Stump school, if you please, Peetie."

"I will, Uncle Wiggily, promised the other puppy dog boy. Then Peetie trotted on to school, while the bunny uncle and Tippy Tumble went into the woods and Jackie remained at home with his sore throat.

"What is slippery elm, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Tippy, as he got up after he had stumbled over a piece of dirt about the size of a [illegible]

"Slippery elm is the soft, inside bark of an elm tree," answered Mr. Longears, "and it is very good for sore throats. It takes out the pain. I'll show you how to get some slippery elm, and then you may take it back to poor Jackie while I hop on and have an adventure."

Soon they reached an elm tree. It was slanting in the ground, so that it was like a little hill tilted up in the air.

"The best bark grows rather high up," said Uncle Wiggily. "You climb up the slanting tree, Tippy, and gnaw off some of the inner bark. I'll wait here at the foot of the tree for you."

Tippy scrambled up the tree, which slanted like an old-fashioned cellar door and soon he had gnawed off some of the inside bark. But, bless your lollypop! As soon as Tippy Tumble reached the slippery inside bark, his paws slid from under him and down the trunk of the tree he coasted, bumping into Uncle Wiggily "kerbango!"

"Oh my goodness! What's that?" cried Mr. Longears who had almost fallen asleep while waiting for Tippy.

"I didn't mean to! I-I—now I slipped!" said Tippy Tumble.

"Oh, that's all right, try again," said the bunny. Up the tree went Tippy again. He was gnawing off some of the bark when, as he looked down he saw the bad Bob Cat creeping out of the woods toward Uncle Wiggily who was now fast asleep.

"Here! You can't nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears!" barked Tippy. With that he let himself slide down very fast the slippery bark of the elm tree.

"Bingo! Bingo!" Tippy crashed into the Bob Cat, knocking him head over heels.

"Oh wow! I must be in an earthquake!" howled the Bob Cat and away he ran. Then Uncle Wiggily awakened and said Tippy was a very brave little puppy dog chap.

And then for the third time Tippy scrambled up the tree, gnawed off some of the soothing bark and it soon made Jackie's sore throat all well.

But, best of all, the bunny gentleman had an adventure. And if the egg beater doesn't try to dance with the nutmeg grater when it ought to be jumping rope with the bread knife, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the flower pitcher.

Sponge Cake with Custard Filling—Four eggs, two cups sugar, two cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon lemon extract, three-furths cup boiling water. Beat whites and yolks of eggs separately, then together. Add gradually the sugar, flour, baking powder and flavoring, and lastly, also gradually, the hot water. Bake in a large, round tin. When cold cut in half and put the following custard between. Custard—Beat one egg an done-half cup of sugar until light, two teaspoons flour mixed with a little milk and one cup of milk. Heat the milk and add the egg, sugar and flour and cook until thick. When cold put between cake.

Strawberries and Grapefruit — Hull half a quart of strawberries and ad this to the pulp which has been taken from a large grapefruit. Mix without bruising and add a little powdered sugar just before serving.

Can't Annex South Madison By Election

The city cannot conduct a special election on annexation of territory to the city, in the opinion of Roman Heilman, city attorney. A three-fourths vote of the city council is all that is needed to annex but the ordinance cannot go into effect before 90 days have elapsed after its passage. The ordinance may be signed by Mayor I. Milo Kittleson any time after its passage. An election can be held to detach territory from a city. Five per cent of the electors of a city may ask for an election within 90 days after the petition has been accepted.

Alpha Xi Delta Informal Hang-over

Mrs. Thompson's Advice

ADMIRER FAILS TO SEND HER RING

Writes To Her But Is Mum On Diamond Trouble In His Home May Explain Silence

DEAR MRS. THOMPSON: I am a girl of nineteen. I have been going with a young man five years my senior who came from a distant city. He was here two months and I had a date with him almost every night during that time. He seemed to be very fond of me and on leaving he said he would come back for me some day, and talked of getting a diamond ring for me.

Since he has been home he has had illness in his family and is very much worried on this account. He writes to me, but never mentions coming for me at any time or sending the ring.

Do you think the trouble at home is the reason he never mentions this, or is it that he doesn't care as much for me since he left?

GRATEFUL.

It is impossible to say why the young man does not mention the ring or going to see you. Perhaps he is so upset by his trouble that he can't think of such things just now. I wouldn't hope too much, however, because now that he is far away from you he may gradually forget how much you meant to him at one time. You were not friends for any length of time, and that too is a reason why he may forget.

As soon as the trouble at his home clears up, you will be able to judge better whether or not the young man really loves you and means what he said.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl past eighteen. My mother died four years ago and have kept house since. When I go out I try to act just as nice and ladylike as I can. But somehow or other I never get the fellow I would care for. I am considered fair-looking.

About two years ago I saw a fellow that I fell in love with just by seeing him, but being so young I tried to get him out of my mind. Later on I became better acquainted and the better I knew him the more I liked him. I really love him now and I can't get him out of my mind. It is getting so that I can't eat or sleep.

He has been going with another girl for about three years. They don't seem to get along somehow. His family don't want him to marry her. They always part, but they always make up. Do you think there is a chance for me? How could I win him? I often see him and he treats me nicely and shows respect.

BROKEN-HEARTED.

Yours is a very natural case for a girl of eighteen. So often a girl of that age loves deeply but her love is unrequitted. Perhaps it is better that she is not loved in return because the time is not right for her to have her love dream answered.

Don't become discouraged; keep on loving, but try not to let your thoughts control you. Also force yourself to take an interest in other young people. It may be two or three years, or even longer, but some time you will love and your love will be returned. Then you will be only too thankful that you did not have your way in this matter. The right man will come to you, whether it is the one you love or some one else. Only have faith that matters will work out naturally and for the best.

TIMELY RECIPES

Baked Bananas—Baked bananas are nice for the children's lunch. Do not have them too sweet. Sometimes they are baked in the skins. They may be peeled and basted with a syrup of sugar and water to which a small amount of lemon juice has been added.

Strawberry Mousse—Rub a quart of strawberries through a sieve sweeten heavily and fold into a pint of cream whipped stiff. Pack in ice and salt for four hours.

Strawberry Cream—Rub a quart of hulled strawberries through a sieve with a cup of sugar and the juice of a lemon and add a package of gelatin which has been soaked and dissolved in as little water as possible. When cool but not set fold in a cup of cream whipped. Chill in a mold.

SEWING SUGGESTIONS

Save Time — When putting rosettes on a baby's bonnet, instead of sewing them on, use snap fasteners. Then when the bonnet is washed the rosettes may be removed and put back without using a needle and thread. Do the same with the jacket.

Make Applique, Then Put On—When using applique trimming, now so popular for dresses and hats, it is much easier to make the trimming before applying. Mark the design on the material for applique, buttonhole stitch around the patterns, make French knots or other stitches in centers of flowers or circles. Dampen and press; cut out carefully then arrange on garment or hat and fasten with stitches that do not show. The effect is the same and the work very much easier than it is to cut out the applique pieces and embroider directly onto dress or hat.

Substitute for Metallic Ribbons—The [illegible] metallic ribbons are expensive and make wonderful strips for the ends of table runners and sofa pillows that are made of flour or velvet. If you want the beautiful effect, but do not want to pay the price, but the attractive [illegible] ribbon and outline the [illegible] with fine gold thread, and also touch up some leaves with [illegible] The ribbon may be finished with [illegible] spaced buttonholing in gold and a little edge of coarse crochet.

The Story of an Artist's Wife

As Told to Grace Phelps

LUCY STARTS HER CAMPAIGN.

I had either reckoned too far on Barclay's astuteness or too little on his vanity. As soon as he spoke I knew that he had seen nothing more in Lucy's reference to me as a flapper than recognition of my youth. While as to the "sort of women he had played around with—"

"O, come now," he protested. "They weren't as old as all that! You forget you were among the number!"

"Well?" Lucy drawled provocatively, looking at him under drooping eyelashes.

Barclay moved uneasily, beginning to see the drift of her remark.

"Well what?" he demanded.

She laughed softly.

"O, Barclay, you have grown stupid," she said. And once more there was a double meaning in her words. Barclay was too blind to see it but it was plain enough that she meant me to infer that he had deteriorated ince his marriage to me. Or did she really think I was too dull to see through her remarks?

I was not skilled in the art of fencing against such innuendos. There was nothing for me to do but hold my temper as best I might. To resent her hidden meaning openly would only put me at her mercy. At least I had warning of the sort of woman I had to deal with and I realized that my premonition of the reason for her coming to the island had not been wrong. It was a case of "off with the old and on with the new," and she had intended Barclay to be the new."

For the rest of the meal I sat silent, while Lucy ignored me and chatted with Barclay of friends they had in common and what had occurred since he left New York. Barclay tried to include me in the conversation but it was all Greek to me. I could only listen and even then I could not understand half her allusions. I gave up the effort after a while and took refuge in my thoughts.

They were not very pleasant thoughts. Anyone with a sense of ordinary politeness, I reflected, would leave the island on discovering that Barclay and I were on our honeymoon. But in the brief time I had observed her, I had seen clearly enough that what Lucy Harding wanted she went after, by fair means or foul. My existence had given her a set back and the fact that Barclay and I were legally married had almost staggered her. But whether she would consider it a barrier I had my doubts.

I would be no match for her if it were a matter that lay between us but there was, of course, Barclay to consider. She could not know yet how strong his love for me might be, but I was under no illusion as far as Lucy was concerned. She would stay on the island until she found out.

It did not surprise me in the least when she suddenly cut short her reminiscences and demanded of Barclay:

"Well now that you have me here, where are you going to put me?"

Even Barclay could see that this was ignoring me a little too pointedly.

"Ruth was wondering what we would do about that," he smiled at me. "Perhaps Alec has an extra cot we could hire. He's sure to have an old piece of sail that I could put up as a lean-to for myself and you girls could sleep indoors."

"That's a good idea," Lucy said with a swift glance at me. "Suppose,' she turned back to Barclay, you row me over to Land's End and we'll see."

"I suppose it would be rather a heavy pull if Ruth came too," Barclay answered, unsusciciously. "Do you mind being left alone for a couple of hours, Honey?"

Report for June 5, 1923

Wheat Takes Rapid Slump; Down To 108

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO — Although some speculative buying gave an upturn to wheat prices at the opening today a setback quickly ensued, the accumulating orders having been on the decline July and September both went below 1.08 for the first time, influenced more or less by assertions that domestic and foreign demand was inadequate to take care of prospective receipts. The majority of traders appeared to favor the short side. Opening prices which were from unchanged figures to ½ cent lower, with July 1.08¾ to 1.08½, and Sept. 1.08¾ to 1.09 were followed by declines all around to well below yesterday's finish.

Subsequently July corn rose to within less than one cent of the season's price record this season, but demand here was good and there was persistent buying on the part of commission houses. Corn started nervously ½ to 2 cents net lower, July 82¾.

OATS — Corn and oats were relatively firm owing to continued scarcity of available supplies of cash. After opening at a shade lower to a shade advance July 50½@ 50¾, the corn market fluctuated somewhat and then scored moderate extreme gains.

OATS — Oats started unchanged to a shade higher, July 40¾ and after a little hesitancy went definitely up grade.

PROVISIONS — Provisions reflected firmness of hog values.

Stock Prices Mixed; Rails Issues Firm

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Speculative sentiment was still unsettled at the opening of today's stock market, initial transactions being decidedly irregular. Changes as a rule were normal although California Petroleum which was heavy yesterday advanced 1⅝ points and Willys Overland pfd. fell back 1. Rrails were firm. Low priced rails were again in demand. California Petroleum extended its gain to nearly 2½ points and Houston moved up 1½. Willys Overland pfd. cancelled its loss and moved to higher ground. Davison Chemical Smelting common dropped 2 points climbed 1⅝. Federal Mining & to a new low and Phillips Petroleum yielded 1⅝. Foreign exchanges opened steady.

The closing was irregular. Sales approximated 500,000 shares.

STOUGHTON — The common council meets this evening in regular monthly session and will consider a number of important matters, concerning the purchase of the west side park, including the vacant cemetery lots, belonging to the Riverside Cemetery association and the purchase of a new site for additional burying grounds. Some bargaining has been going forward relating to acquirement of both holdings by the city and the terms submitted by the owners are very reasonable, the park association having between 3 and 4 lots to dispose of belonging to persons individually, ask that the small indebtedness of $500 or a little more be paid by the city and the Riverside association offers to accept about $5000, to be loaned to the city at a reasonable interest, so as to provide means with which to meet the upkeep of that part of the cemetery now in use. The West Side park, including the two properties, is an ideal place for holding meetings and picnics and conveniently located along the banks of the Yahara river. The city would assume the cost of about $600 for the paving to be done this summer along the park frontage on South Page St.

Tobacco Notes

Rain and heat will bring forward the tobacco beds and there is still ample time left for transplanting into the fields. Some finish the work later than July 1, which is never considered safe, owing to delayed ripening of the leaf. Warehouse handling is now going on at Stoughton and more hands could be employed. At this season of the year some men and women prefer outdoor labor in preference to the warehouse, which results in a reduction of the force.

WASHINGTON — Complaints were issued Thursday by the federal trade commission charging the wholesale tobacco dealers of Phoenix, Ariz., the American Tobacco company, Liggett and Meyers Tobacco company and P. Lorillard company, with "co-operatively fixing standard prices at which certain tobacco products sold by them shall be re-sold."

Says The Edgerton Tobacco Reporter—

"There is still tobacco left in country hands and buying will continue as long a sit lasts. Kelly Jefferson of the Jefferson Leaf Tobacco Co., Sparta, is scouting this section for old goods in the bundle. Frank Kellogg, for the P. Lorrilard Co., is picking up considerable here and there. He reports the purchase of a car of old bundle goods the fore part of the week. M. H. Bekkedal is reported to be buying non-pool crops in the southern section, the first tobacco he has bought from first hands in this section in many years. Other buyers also continue picking up occasional crops. Prices remain strong, about the same as heretofore."

"The Pool officials have been holding meetings at Orfordville, Rio, Cashton, Westby and Soldiers Grove during the past week or so.

The New York Times says—

"There are too many thousands of farmers in co-operate undertakings for any doubt to be left that if farmers wish to co-operate they freely may. Now comes from Wisconsin a court decision that if farmers undertake to co-operate they must co-operate. Hitherto the difficulty has been that the farmers would desert "pools" if they thought it to their profit. A few days ago some free-lance buyers sought to make bargains with members of a Wisconsin co-operative marketing pool, and the court forbade the. The tobacco farmers found themselves free to agree to co-operate, but having agreed to do so they could not sell above the prices paid to the loyal co-operators."

"In the law which the President signed the farmers got power to declare 8 per cent dividends. If they are earned by service, they will not be grudged. There will be no mourning for the disappearance of the middleman who may be displaced by the farers' combines. But the farmers must perform the middlemen's services if they are to make an honest profit out of the public."

The Young People's society of the West Koshkonong Lutheran Synod church, will meet Wednesday at the parsonage, a business meeting will be held with election of officers.

Miss Karen Falk who has been teaching at Mondovi, has been called home due to the death of Mrs. Dr. Victor Falk. The W. C. T. U. will meet Tuesday afternoon at English Methodist church. Leader, Mrs. R. H. Jones. Miss Ruth Hoover will furnish music.

The Tabitha society of the Central Christ church will be entertained Tuesday by Mrs. Sam Teisberg. Mrs. Valdemar Gullickson and Miss Bessie Swerig. A business meeting will be held.

Guy Sundt of Ripon spent the week-end at his parental home.

Mrs. Dr. Victor Falk passed away at about 10 o'clock Sunday evening, after having been confined to bed since January. Funeral services will be conducted at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Falk, North Page street, Wednesday at 2:30, by Rev. Oscar Thompson, former pastor of the Central Christ church. It has been the wish of the family that no flowers be sent. Miss Florence Keller Ladd was born June 12, 1892, in Kansas City, Kas. She was a graduate from the Oberlin academy in 1911, and in 1913 from the Lewis institute. She was married to Dr. Victor Falk Nov. 12, 1918, after which she taught a year at the association house. Dr. and Mrs. Falk moved to this city in 1914 to live. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Jean, one son, Victor, Jr., her mother, Mrs. A. G. Reiser, and her step father, who is postmaster at Mobile, Ala. Mr. and Mrs. Reiser will arrive on Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. E. Books and things—cabbages—Kings—as penciled by Ever Sharp

The recent acquisition by the university library of a ten volume set of Herman Melville's works brings home to one the strange success that the books of this author have had. It was over a decade ago that Melville was doing most of his writing. Then he was hardly recognized, his work was scarcely known.

Now, suddenly, he comes into prominence and readers all over the country are talking about him. In the Madison library only two of his books are listed but it is reported that more have been ordered recently. Until only a few weeks ago the university library contained only a few of his novels, but the acquisition of this new set is indicative of the sudden, albeit protracted rise in the popularity of the author.

* * *

Melville is an American writer of sea stories. It was Moby Dick, a tale of the capture of a white whale, which probably did most to establish his works among readers.

At the outset of Moby Dick there is a description of the night the hero spent in a New England hotel with a cannibal. As it chanced, the hotel was filled and the person who tells the story finds that he must put up for the night in a room with a foreigner. This does not seem at all serious until a strange noise wakes the story-teller in the night.

* * *

The youth turns towards the noise to find a glistening body writhing in the glow of the room. A chant is murmured low and the body sways in rythm. It is hardly a pleasant predicament in which the youth finds himself, especially when he divines that the brown-skinned foreigner is a cannibal.

* * *

Could it be that the savage was invoking his god preparatory to making a meal? Could it be that he would slip a gleaming knife from his belt and slit the gullet of the trembling youth?

When one reads, he wonders just how it is that Melville's books have taken so long to be recognized.

* * *

Our conscience pricks us because of the fact that we haven't said anything all Spring about the stock company which has made Madison its headquarters for an indefinite period. It is an institution which has long been wanted here, a stock company, and the players at the Orpheum are doing nobly.

If it is true that students haven't favored the Orpheum very much of late, it is equally true that Madisonians seem to prefer these performances to those of the regular junior Orpheum circuit. All evidences indicate that the company is making a success of its undertaking and that it will remain in town all of the summer.

We will admit that the choice of plays which has been made has not always been of the best. But pieces for stock company are difficult to choose.

We think in all seriousness that editorial writers for the deet ought to devise some system whereby claims could be layed out at the beginning of the year for picnic grounds along the lake shore and in the country surrounding Madison. This practice used to be carried out in the days of gold rushes and it seems that the rushes for picnic grounds during the pleasanter days of the year are not very much different.

If these claims could be made to last a certain period and could be of specified dimensions, say ten front feet on the lake by ten feet or if they were not on the lake five extra feet for compensation so many people wouldn't be killed every Spring in the rush for picnic grounds.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Subsections 1 and 3 of section 11 of chapter 549, laws of 1909, are amended to read: (Laws of 1909, chap. 549, Section 11.) 1. Said civil court shall have a clerk and * * * EIGHT deputy clerks and such other assistants as the board of supervisors of Milwaukee county may prescribe. The judges of said court shall appoint the clerk and each of said judges may appoint one of said deputy clerks: * * * ONE DEPUTY CLERK AND the assistants shall be appointed by said chief clerk * * *. Said clerk and deputy clerks who may be appointed shall, before entering upon the duties of their offices, take an oath faithfully and honestly to discharge the duties of such office, and shall each give a bond in the sum of two thousand dollars for the faithful performance of his duties in such form and with such sureties as shall be approved by the judges of said court, such oath and bond to be filed with the county clerk of Milwaukee county. Such clerk, deputy clerks and assistants shall hold office during the pleasure of the persons appointing them.

3. Said clerk shall keep an accurate account of all fees and moneys paid into said court, stating from whom and the time when the same were received, and at the end of each calendar month, or oftener if required by the judges of said court, shall deposit the amount of such fees with the county treasurer of Milwaukee county, together with a detailed statement showing all moneys received or paid out by said clerk for fees or otherwise during the period covered by said statement, and which statement shall be verified by said clerk to be true and correct. EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE DIRECTED BY ORDER OF COURT OR A JUDGE, SAID CLERK IS HEREBY AUTHORIZED TO DEPOSIT ON OPEN ACCOUNT IN SUCH DEPOSITORY BANK OR BANKS OF THE COUNTY OF MILWAUKEE AS HE MAY SELECT, ALL SUMS PAID TO HIM IN HIS OFFICIAL CAPACITY AND ANY INTEREST COLLECTED BY HIM ON SUCH DEPOSITS SHALL BE PAID TO THE COUNTY TREASURER OF MILWAUKEE COUNTY AND SHALL BE APPROPRIATED TO THE COST OF OPERATING THE COURT.

SECTION 2. Subsection 2 of section 13 of chapter 549, laws of 1909, as amended by chapter 594, laws of 1917, is amended to read: (Laws of 1909, chap. 549, Section 13.) 2. It shall be the duty of each of said judges, before receiving any installment of such salary, to file with the county clerk of said Milwaukee county * * * an affidavit to the effect that he has no cases submitted to him under consideration or advisement and remaining undecided by him for a longer period than forty days, exclusive of the time that he shall have been actually disabled by sickness.

SECTION 3. Subsection 1 of section 14 of chapter 549, laws of 1909, as amended by chapter 408, laws of 1919, is amended to read: (Laws of 1909, chap. 549, Section 14.) 1. The process, service of the same, appearance, practice, pleadings, trials, judgments by confession, default, or non-suit, and all the writs, warrants, and proceedings in said civil court and in appeals therefrom shall, except as herein otherwise provided, be governed by the provisions of Title XXVIII of the statutes, as amended, relating to courts of justice of the peace and proceedings therein in civil cases, and by the provisions of chapter 64 of the statutes relating to bastards and proceedings in bastardy and by chapter 145 of the statutes entitled, "Of forcible entry and unlawful detainer," and the acts amendatory thereof, and by sections * * * 2895 and 2896 of the statutes. The following sections of the statutes are hereby declared to be applicable to said court on the proceedings therein: Sections 3569, 3584 to 3592, inclusive; 3598, 3616, 3617, 3623, 3638, 3666, 3667, 3700, 3716 and 3776.

SECTION 4. Subsection 1 of section 15 of chapter 549, laws of 1909, as amended by chapter 538, laws of 1921, is amended to read: (Laws of 1909, chap. 549, Section 15.) 1. The summons, warrant or other process of said civil court shall be made returnable before said court by its proper title, and when issued in an action wherein the amount of the claim or in replevin the value of the property shall not exceed fifty dollars, it shall be made returnable before the small claims branch of said civil court. All summonses, except garnishee summonses, and summonses in actions of forcible entry and unlawful detainer, shall have a copy of the complaint attached thereto at the time of service, or a brief statement setting forth the nature and amount of the claim. It shall be, except as otherwise provided in said chapter 549 of the laws of 1909, as amended, and in this act, substantially in the form and returnable within the time prescribed for the process of courts of justices of the peace, and shall be signed by a judge or by the clerk OR A DEPUTY CLERK of said court; provided, that a garnishee summons, except in aid of execution, may be issued either at the time of the issuing of the summons or warrant of attachment or at any time thereafter before final judgment has been entered. * * * The summons of said court may be signed, sealed, and delivered by the clerk to attorneys authorized to practice law in Wisconsin, and may be issued by them in the manner provided by and subject to the restrictions of chapter 20 of the laws of Wisconsin of 1903, as amended, except as to time of filing.

SECTION 5. Section 23 of chapter 549, laws of 1909, is amended to read: (Laws of 1909, chap. 549.) Section 22. If upon the trial of an action in said civil court it satisfactorily appears that a witness does not understand the English language a judge of said court may, in his discretion, appoint a competent person to act as interpreter, who shall be duly sworn as such, for such action or proceeding. The compensation for such interpreter shall be * * * THE SAME AS THAT OF A WITNESS IN SAID COURT AND be paid by the party to the action in whose behalf such witness is called, and if any such witness shall be called by both parties to the action, the amount of the compensation of such interpreter shall be paid by both parties in such proportion as the judge shall direct. The amount so paid by any party who is successful in the action may be taxed by him as costs and recovered in the action.

SECTION 6. A new subsection is added to section 14 of chapter 549, laws of 1909, to read: (Laws of 1909, chap. 549, Section 14.) 3. Judgment may be had if the defendant fails to answer the complaint as follows:

(1) In any action arising on contract for the recovery of money only, the plaintiff may file with the clerk, with the summons and complaint, proof of due service of the summons on one or more of the defendants and that no answer or demurrer has been received, or if any such has been received, that the same has been stricken out by order of the court or a judge and that no other answer or demurrer has been received and the time granted by any order therefor has expired. If the complaint be duly verified, the clerk, or a deputy clerk shall thereupon enter judgment for the amount demanded in the complaint against such defendant or defendants, or against one or more of the several defendants in the cases provided for in section 2834 of the statutes. But if the complaint be not duly verified and such action is on an instrument for the payment of money only, the clerk or a deputy clerk on its production to him shall assess the amount due to the plaintiff thereon; and in other cases shall ascertain and assess the amount which the plaintiff is entitled to recover in the action from his examination under oath or other proof and enter the judgment for the amount so asser-

(2) In garnishment actions brought in aid of plaintiff's cause of action in any of the cases provided for in subdivision (1) hereof the plaintiff may file with the clerk proof of due service of the garnishment summons, that the garnishee defendant has disclosed an indebtedness to the defendant and that no issue has been taken with such answer, whereupon the clerk, or a deputy clerk, shall enter an order in his docket requiring the garnishee within ten days to pay to the clerk the amount of such indebtedness or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the judgment with costs thereof, and the cost of the garnishee proceedings; or if it appears from such answer that the garnishee is to pay money to the defendant in any other manner or at any other time than immediately and at the time of the service of the summons, then the order shall be that such payment be so made to the clerk for the benefit of the plaintiff. If such garnishee shall pay such indebtedness as directed by such order, the costs of the garnishee shall be paid out of the money received by the clerk.

(3) In the foregoing cases and other actions the plaintiff may upon like proof apply to the court for judgment according to the demand of the complaint.

SECTION 7. This act shall take effect upon passage and publication.

CHAPTER 203, LAWS OF 1923.

AN ACT to submit to the people an amendment to the constitution.

WHEREAS, At the biennial session of the legislature of this state in the year 1921, an amendment to the constitution was proposed and agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, which proposed amendment was in the following language:

"RESOLVED BY THE SENATE, THE ASSEMBLY CONCURRING, That section 3 of article XI of the constitution be amended to read: (Article XI) Section 3. CITIES AND VILLAGES ORGANIZED PURSUANT TO STATE LAW * * * are hereby empowered, TO DETERMINE THEIR LOCAL AFFAIRS AND GOVERNMENT, SUBJECT ONLY TO THIS CONSTITUTION AND TO SUCH ENACTMENTS OF THE LEGISLATURE OF STATE-WIDE CONCERN AS SHALL WITH UNIFORMITY AFFECT EVERY CITY OR EVERY VILLAGE. THE METHOD OF SUCH DETERMINATION SHALL BE PRESCRIBED BY THE LEGISLATURE.

* * * No county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner or for any purpose to any amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding five per centum on the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for state and county taxes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness. Any county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness as aforesaid, shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same; except that when such indebtedness is incurred in the acquisition of lands by cities, or by counties having a population of one hundred fifty thousand or over, for public, municipal purposes, or for the permanent improvement thereof, the city or county incurring the same shall, before or at the time of so doing, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within a period not exceeding fifty years from the time of contracting the same." And

WHEREAS, The foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution of this state has been approved and agreed to by the legislature thereof at the biennial session of 1923 by a majority of all the members elected to each house thereof; therefore

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution of this state shall be submitted to the people at an election to be held in the several election districts in this state on the Tuesday next succeeding the first Monday in November, 1924, and in the manner provided by law for the submission of amendments to the constitution at a general election, and if the people shall approve and ratify said amendment by a majority of the electors voting thereon such amendment so ratified shall become a part of the constitution of this state.

SECTION 2. This act shall take effect upon passage and publication.

AN ACT To amend sections 70.05, 74.17, subsection (1) of section 76.08 and section 76.10 and to revise 74.18 of the statutes, relating to taxation.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 70.05 of the statutes is amended to read:

70.05 BLANKS FOR OFFICERS. The tax commission shall prescribe and furnish to the several county clerks, forms for the assessment rolls, tax rolls, blanks and returns required for the * * * ASSESSMENT AND COLLECTION OF TAXES. Every county clerk shall, at the expense of the county, annually procure to be prepared according to such prescribed forms and furnish to each assessor in the county, in due season for use, an assessment roll, and to each town clerk a tax roll, and all other books, blanks and papers necessary to be used by such assessors, town and village clerks and treasurers, in the discharge of their duties * * *.

SECTION 2. Section 74.17 of the statutes is amended to read:

74.17 DELINQUENT TAXES. If the treasurer shall be unable to collect any taxes * * * within the time prescribed by law he shall make out a statement of the taxes so remaining unpaid, * * * distinguishing, by setting down separately, * * * real ESTATE * * * personal * * * PROPERTY, AND INCOME TAXES, with a full and perfect description of such real estate from his tax roll, and the name of the person taxed, if therein specified, and by setting down separately all public lands which are held on contract and all lands mortgaged to the state, and submit the same to the county treasurer; he shall also include in such statement a description of any land doubly assessed and the amount of tax thereon, and also the specification and entry required by section 74.06. The county treasurer shall carefully compare such statement, when submitted, with the tax roll and ascertain that it is correct.

SECTION 3. Subsection (1) of section 76.08 of the statutes is amended to read:

76.08 (1) PRELIMINARY HEARING. The commission on or before the first day of May in each year in the case of companies defined in subsections (2) AND (4) of section 76.02, and on or before the first day of July in the case of companies defined in subsections (3) * * * and (5) of section 76.02 shall, according to their best knowledge and judgment, ascertain and determine the true cash value of the property of each company within the state. Every such company after having filed its annual report pursuant to section 76.05 and before the first day of May shall be entitled, on its own motion, to a preliminary hearing, and to present evidence before the commission relating to the value of the property of such company, or to the value of the general property of the state. On request, in writing, for such hearing, or presentation, the commission shall appoint a time and place therefor within the period aforesaid, the same to be conducted in such manner as the commission shall direct. Such preliminary hearing shall not impair or affect the right to further hearing provided for in section 76.10.

SECTION 4. Section 76.10 of the statutes is amended to read:

76.10 REVIEW OF ASSESSMENT. After the preliminary assessments have been determined as provided in section 76.08 the commission shall continue in session from day to day, unless adjourned for a longer time, for such period as may be necessary, not later than the fifteenth day of May following, for the purpose of reviewing the valuation and assessment of the property of the companies on the assessment rolls defined in subsections (2) AND (4) of section 76.02 and until September first, the companies defined in subsections (3) * * * and (5) of section 76.02, and the valuation of the general property of the state. Any such company interested shall have the right to appear and be heard as to the value and assessment of the property of such company and the tax to be levied thereon, and as to the value of the general property of the state; and the commission may, on such application, or of its own motion, correct the valuation or assessment of such company in such manner as will in its judgment make the valuation thereof just and relatively equal with the valuation of the general property of the state, and may correct the valuation of the general property of the state. The assessed value of the property of a company as it appears on the roll shall not be increased without notice to the company by registered letter that such increase is contemplated and fixing the time for a hearing in relation thereto. The attorney-general shall attend at such hearings and represent the interests of the state.

SECTION 5. Section 74.18 of the statutes is revised to read:

74.18 FORM OF RETURN. The return of the town, city or village treasurer to the county treasurer of delinquent taxes shall be made in the form prescribed by the tax commission pursuant to section 70.05.

SECTION 6. This act shall take effect upon passage and publication.

AN ACT To create sections 26.125 and 26.205 of the statutes, relating to fire protection districts and to the prevention of forest fires.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Two new sections are added to the statutes to read: 26.125 (1) Whenever it shall appear to the commission from investigation, hearing, or otherwise, that areas in the state are in need of special protection from forest, field or marsh fires, the commission shall be authorized to designate and establish a special fire protection district on such areas. Each such district shall not comprise more than one million acres nor shall more than eight such districts be established under this section. The limits of each such special fire protection district shall be defined and public notice of its establishment shall be published in the local press of the region affected, for three successive times, and given such other publicity as the commission deems necessary.

(2) The commission shall organize each special fire protection district so as to most effectively prevent or suppress destructive fires and to that end may employ one experienced warden or forest ranger to have charge of its efforts in each such district may establish lookout towers, telephone lines provide tools for fire fighting, and carry on such other work as is necessary to effectively protect the district from fire.

(3) The chairman of each town or fractional town within the limits of each special fire protection district and town fire warden shall assist and cooperate with the special district rang in the issuance of burning permits, fire reports, and all other matters pertaining to fire protection within such district.

(4) All other provisions of law relating to marsh, forest, field or swamp fires shall apply to the area included within a special fire protection district with the same force as to areas outside a special fire protection district, and all expenses in connection with the suppression of fires shall be paid in accordance with the provisions of law now in effect.

(5) Any person or persons who shall wilfully or negligently set fire on any land either within or without the limits of a special fire protection district and allow such fire to escape to adjoining lands and become an uncontrolled fire, shall, upon conviction, be liable for the expense incurred in the suppression of such fire or fires by the town board of the town in which such fire occurred. The town clerk shall certify to such person or persons the claim of the town in writing and list thereon the items of expense incurred in the suppression of such fire. Such claims shall be paid within sixty days and if unpaid shall constitute a lien against any property such person or persons may own within the state.

26.205 Tractors operating in, through or near marshes or on other land where there is danger of setting fire shall be equipped so that such tractors will not set fire on such lands and to reduce to a minimum the danger of setting fire. The commission or its locomotive inspector is authorized and directed to reject from service all tractors not properly equipped to prevent the setting of fires. The commission shall, after investigation, prescribe suitable fire preventive devices for tractors operating in marsh land or on other land where there is danger of fire being set by their operation.

SECTION 15. No judge of said county court, while holding such office, shall be in any manner engaged or act as attorney or counsel in any action, cause or proceeding in, or which he has good reason to believe may be brought in, the county court of said county, or give advice or opinion therein; and the judge of said court shall not give advice to parties litigant in any action pending before him for decision; or draft or prepare any wills, papers or other proceedings relating to any such matter or action, except when expressly authorized by law upon penalty for any violation hereof of removal from office.

SECTION 16. 1. Jurors shall be chosen for each term of said court by the same persons and in the same manner as jurors in the circuit court and all provisions of law, rules and practice relating to the selection, qualifications, duties and compensation of jurors in the circuit court shall be applicable to said county court, except as otherwise provided herein.

2. No jurors shall be summoned to attend upon any term of said court unless it shall appear to the satisfaction of the judge that a jury panel is necessary.

3. At least six days before each term, unless otherwise ordered by the judge, the clerk shall, in the presence of the judge, draw from the list of persons provided therefor, 36 jurors for such term and the list so selected shall forthwith be filed in the ...ice of said clerk. If the name of any person known to be disqualified or no longer liable to jury duty in said county be drawn, such name shall be cast out and the name of another juror drawn to take his place.

4. When any criminal action or proceeding is pending at any term of said court the clerk, if requested at least six days before such term by the district attorney, or by any defendant or by the attorney for the defendant in such action, or whenever directed by the judge, shall issue a venire to the sheriff of said county to summon such jurors returnable at such time as the judge may direct.

5. In case the whole panel is not summoned for the trial of any criminal action or for the trial of any action or proceeding in which a jury trial is demanded or ordered, the parties shall strike from the panel of jurors selected for such term, the jury for such action. The district attorney or the plaintiff or plaintiffs shall be entitled to six peremptory challenges and the defendant or defendants to a like number of challenges to be made alternately, the district attorney or the plaintiff first challenging. When either party shall decline to challenge in his turn such challenge shall be made by the clerk by lot. When a jury shall have been selected as aforesaid, or otherwise agreed upon, a venire therefor returnable at such time as the judge may direct shall be issued by the clerk to the sheriff of said county.

6. If any of the jurors named in such venire shall not be found, or shall fail to appear, or if there shall be any legal objection to any that shall appear, or if any of them be excused by the court or parties, the court may direct the sheriff or his under-sheriff, or any of his deputies, to summon a sufficient number of talesmen to supply the deficiency; provided that not more than four such talesmen shall be selected from the residents of one town, city or village, except by consent of parties. The officer summoning the same may insert the names of such talesmen on the venire.

7. If a jury shall be required to make an assessment of damages in any case, the same shall be drawn from the names of such box, or the court may direct the same to be had and taken by any jury summoned in any other case, or may direct the clerk to issue a venire to summon a special jury for that purpose, to be composed of persons qualified to serve as jurors in said court, and unless objections are made, such assessments of damages may be made by the court, or the judge thereof, without the intervention of a jury.

8. The court may set down any case on the calendar for trial on any particular day. When a civil case on the calendar is called, the court may then, or at any time thereafter, require the parties in such action to determine and elect whether they wish a jury, and if both parties neglect or refuse to so determine or elect at said time, neither party shall be entitled to a trial by jury, but the court may, at its discretion, grant a trial by jury; and if a trial is demanded, the court may then or at any time afterwards direct that a jury be selected as aforesaid in such case, and issue a venire therefore, returnable at the time fixed for the trial of such action. If for any case, in selecting a jury, the panel shall become exhausted the court may cause persons qualified to serve as jurors to be summoned from the bystanders or from the county at large for the trial thereof and make the proper and necessary orders therefor.

9. In any criminal actions a jury may be waived by the accused by filing a written waiver or by his consent thereto in open court entered on the minutes.

10. Jurors shall be summoned as in the circuit court, and the county judge may direct at what time jurors shall be summoned to appear.

11. The panel of jurors selected for any term of the county court of said county, under its civil and criminal jurisdiction, shall constitute the panel of jurors for the subsequent and all succeeding terms of court until discharged by the court; but the judge of said court, in his discretion, may order a new panel of jurors to be drawn for the subsequent, or any succeeding term.

SECTION 17. All costs, fees and disbursements shall be taxed and allowed the prevailing party in the same manner and to like amount as they are taxed and allowed in the circuit court, except as hereinafter provided.

SECTION 18. The county judge of Wood county shall, for the performance of his duties as county judge and such additional duties as are imposed by this act, receive as compensation such sum as the county board may determine.

Section 19. 1. The clerk of the circuit court of said county shall ex officio be the clerk of said county court, and shall have the care and custody of all books and papers belonging to said county court except those that appertain to the probate jurisdiction thereof and shall perform the duties of clerk of said county court in the same manner required of him as clerk of the circuit court, so far as it shall be requisite and necessary to discharge the necessary duties as clerk of said county court, and all other other duties necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this act; and the said clerk of the county court shall keep all necessary records of proceedings and judgments had in said county court, in the manner provided in the circuit court or as otherwise in this act provided.

2. On each civil action beyond the jurisdiction of justices of the peace, commenced in or appealed to said county court there shall be paid a state tax of one dollar and an advance clerk's fee of two dollars at the same time and in the same manner as now provided for the payment of state tax and advance clerk's fees for actions commenced in or appealed to the circuit court.

SECTION 20. The deputy clerks authorized by law to be appointed by the clerk of the circuit court of said county, shall also be deputy clerks of said county court, and may aid said clerk in the discharge of his duties as clerk of said county court and in the absence of the clerk from his office or from the court may perform all his duties and in case of a vacancy by resignation, death, removal or other cause the deputy appointed shall perform all such duties as clerk of said county court until such vacancy shall be filled.

SECTION 21. The sheriff of said county in person or by his undersheriff, or one of his deputies, shall attend such court when actually in session for the transaction of court business, other than the probate business, and the court shall designate the number of officers that shall be present when such court is in actual session as aforesaid and such officers shall be entitled to receive the same compensation and payable in like manner as is, or may be provided by law for like service in the circuit court.

SECTION 22. The fees of the clerk, witnesses, jurors and officers shall be the same as are allowed by law to the clerk, witnesses, jurors and officers in the circuit court of Wood county.

SECTION 23. 1. The judge of said county court may, from time to time, employ a phonographic reporter for said court, and may appoint and remove at pleasure an assistant phonographic reporter, who shall, in the absence of, or during the disability of the phonographic reporter, have all the powers and perform all the duties of the phonographic reporter.

2. Each of said officers shall take and subscribe the oath of office prescribed in the constitution, and shall be furnished with all necessary stationery, and attend, when required by said judge, and report the proceedings of trial at said court, and perform such duties as the judge may require.

3. Said judge shall fix the compensation of such reporter, not to exceed ten dollars for each day, and five dollars for each one-half days' attendance, which shall be in full compensation for services and for making transcripts from shorthand notes, as may be required by said judge; but, in lieu of the salary herein provided, the county board of said Wood county may, in its discretion, from time to time, fix the salary of the phonographic reporter of said court, which salary shall be paid at the end of each month. During the time the assistant phonographic reporter shall perform the duties of the phonographic reporter, he shall receive the compensation provided by law for the phonographic reporter, the same to be deducted from the salary of the phonographic reporter.

4. Said reporter and assistant reporter shall furnish parties to an action, or their attorneys, requiring them, transcripts of the testimony and proceedings had at a price not to exceed five cents per folio; and two and one-half cents per folio for copies. Until otherwise fixed by the county board, the per diem compensation of said reporter and assistant reporter shall be paid out of the treasury of the county of Wood upon the order of the judge.

SECTION 24. Court commissioners for the county of Wood shall have the same powers and be subject to the same duties in respect to actions and proceedings in said county court as in actions and proceedings in circuit court.

SECTION 25. The seal of the county court of Wood county shall continue to be used as the seal of said court.

SECTION 26. The county of Wood shall provide all books, blanks and stationery for keeping the records and proceedings of said county court made necessary by this act; the county court of said county shall be held in the county court room or building, at the county seat of said county, where all books, records and proceedings shall be kept and in event that said room or building for any reason is rendered unsuitable or unsafe, the county board shall procure, provide and furnish other suitable room or rooms at said county seat for holding court and for the offices of the judge and clerk of said court, and the terms of said court held at the city of Marshfield, shall be held in the city hall in said city or any other suitable place to be designated by the judge of said court.

SECTION 27. All fines and all costs collected by the clerk in every civil action and in all criminal prosecutions and proceedings under the general statutes of this state tried or determined by the county court, which if tried or determined by the circuit court or circuit judge would be paid over to the county treasury, shall be accounted for and paid over quarterly by the clerk of said court unto the county treasurer of the county of Wood.

SECTION 28. The general provisions of the statutes of Wisconsin, and all the general laws which may at any time be in force relative to the circuit courts and actions and proceedings therein, in civil and criminal cases, shall apply also to said county court, unless inapplicable, and except as otherwise provided in this act; and the rules of practice prescribed or which may hereafter be prescribed by the justices of the supreme court for circuit court, shall, unless inapplicable, be in force in said county court, and the judge of said county court shall have power to punish for contempt in the same manner that the judges of circuit courts are or may be authorized by law to punish for contempts; and said county court shall have power to make and enforce such other rules of practice as may be necessary.

SECTION 29. In all matters, examinations or proceedings of which the county court and the judge thereof has jurisdiction, independent of this act, it shall be lawful for the county judge to charge and receive the same fees and per diem as are allowed by law for like services, to be paid in like manner.

SECTION 30. Whenever the court shall find, in any action or proceeding brought under the provisions of section 7 of this act or any other action or proceeding to be tried by the court, without a jury, that the interests of the parties and the convenience of ...at the city of Marshfield, in said county witnesses will be promoted by the trial of any such action or proceeding ...ty, the court in its discretion may adjourn any such action or proceeding for trial within the said city of Marshfield on any date as shall suit the convenience of the court.

SECTION 31. This act shall take effect upon January 1, 1924.

Approved June 4, 1923.

Recently added facilities make our paint shop equipped so that we can now paint your car in 7 to 10 days' time.

Remember, when we say PAINT your car we mean what we say—we eliminate the use of all dryers, hardeners and chemicals in our painting process and use the same method to paint your car that only the large body manufacturers use. When your car comes out of our paint shop it will have that new car finish with lasting qualities.

Enameling fenders is another of our specialties. They are baked in our ovens and improve the appearance of any car and last much longer.

Catching Them Early

A LITTLE thing like letting down the age bars to catch young boys for military training doesn't bother the U. S. war machine as the following statement will attest:

HEADQUARTERS SIXTH CORPS AREA
Office of the Corps Area C. M. T. C. Officer.
1819 West Pershing Road,
Chicago, Illinois.

Major General Harry C. Hale, Commanding General of the Sixth Corps Area, which includes the states of Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, has just received instructions from the Secretary of War which will enable the Corps Area Commander to accept young men for the Citizens' Military Training Camp who will attain the age of 17 years on or before December 31, 1923 for the Basic Red Course.

This news will be very welcome to a great number of high school students who have not been eligible for the Training Camp due to the fact that the previous ruling required them to be 17 years old on the date Camp opens. This is believed to be a very wise ruling, and it is expected that a great number of high school boys who would otherwise be ineligible will immediately take advantage of this opportunity to attend the Citizens' Military Training Camp at Camp Custer, Michigan, from August 1 to September 1, 1923.

We have learned recently that the Beloit high school has a "regiment" and that the training is given each week by a United States army officer stationed at Beloit.

The military program planned under the National Defense act called for a larger military establishment than Germany had prior to the world war. Think that over.

Detective Agency Lobby

BIG business in the state is putting pressure on members of the legislature against the bill to regulate private detective agencies. The detective agencies are enlisting the aid of their clients by telling them that the chance of big business interests to break strikes will be gone if the agencies are put out of business.

Letters have also been sent to the district attorneys of the state by detective agencies asking the support of the district attorneys against the detective agency bill. In reply to one of these letters the following reply was sent by George W. Lippert of Wausau, district attorney of Marathon county:

May 17th, 1923.

The Corporations Auxiliary Co.,
Merchants and Manufacturers Bank Bldg.,
Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Gentlemen:

I have your letter of May 15th, addressed to be as "personal and confidential" with reference to Bill No. 687, A., the private detective bill, now up in the legislature at Madison. You ask me to use my influence to kill the bill. I am not going to do anything of the kind, and I am going to tell you why I am opposed to killing that bill.

The first thing that doesn't strike me very well in your letter is that in the very first paragraph of your letter you say that the bill was "introduced by one of the Socialist assemblymen," intended of course, to at once, from the very outset, bias the mind of the reader. This is typical of certain opponents of progress in this country. I have run up against it before. It is done for no other purpose than to prejudice the mind of the reader. Very poor tactics, indeed!

You say that such a statute would seriously handicap the district attorneys. It would not. It is high time that we find out whom district attorneys are employing to help them solve mysteries. I have had some experience with private detective agencies, and I want to tell you right off the bat, that I have found the remedy to be worse than the disease. Of all the deceit, camouflage, twisting of the facts, that I have ever run across, I have found it among certain detective agencies. The muddle and mess made by these fellows was, by far, worse than the thing I was trying to cure.

Certain, these fellows ought to register and make their identity known. Why not? Should they be afraid to let the district attorney, the sheriff and all the other officials know who they are? Are they any different than anybody else? The sheriff, before he is elected, has to submit himself to the acid test of the voters. Every official who enforces the law has to do that. Why shouldn't private detectives, who too often pervert the truth, and who commonly are known to twist the facts to gain results, let their identity known? If they are honest and on the square, they do not have to be ashamed of themselves.

Personally, I think that we should very drastically regulate, and even prohibit such agencies. If not by a Federal law, then certainly the states should pass laws. You talk about radicalism; certainly, from what I know of detective agencies, they breed radicalism. I have even known them to manufacture evidence that would breed radicalism. At best, I have not found them very satisfactory.

I hope that the bill will pass, because I am positively sure that we can get along without the kind of detective agencies that has to sneak around in the dark, afraid to reveal its identity, and which is afraid to come out in the open.

—VOICE OF THE PEOPLE—

Against Free Passes

Bill in Legislature Would Prohibit Granting of Passes to All Employes.

[To The Editor]—The postponed hearing on Assembly Bill 741, which is creating wide interest in railroad and other circles, will take place at 2 o'clock this afternoon before the assembly committee on transportation.

The measure has for its purpose the abolishment of "free passes" on railroads by employes and all others now accustomed to their use or indulgence.

The bill exacts that not only those engaged in the physical operation of railroads, from the president down to the "call boy," but that all others who, by legislative enactment have, by one method or another, been permitted to ride free on the railroads, within this state, shall be deprived of such privileges.

As far as the employes of railroads are concerned this denial operates against them only, however, when traveling for what is termed in the bill as "social" purposes, thereby indicating or meaning when traveling for purposes wholly disassociated from their duties to a railroad company.

The custom now is that when any employe or any member or members of his family from the president down to the "call boy," decide it would be agreeable to take a free side trip on the railroad, by which they are employed for a social visit to friends, or on business purely personal to themselves and wholly disassociated with the needs of the operation of the railroads, the matter is simply arranged by applying to those clothed with power to issue passes on the railroad and the anticipation soon becomes a realization. Either an annual pass is used by those enjoying them or a trip pass is provided for those who do not and wish to travel.

By the passage of the pending bill this free tripping will become only a memory for those now indulging in it. The bill, however, provides the same treatment in this respect for the president, general manager, their families and friends, and all "high-up" officials of a railroad, who may do it by special train, that it does for the so-called "section men," who keep tracks in repair, or for any lesser employe, no matter how humble his services may be for the railroad with which he is connected.

There has been considerable speculation as to the source or authorship of the measure. It came into being in the assembly at a committee bill through the committee on Insurance and Banking, about four weeks ago. It is expected on the hearing that its parentage will be openly asserted, however, it has been noised abroad that earlier effort to legislate in a manner compelling railroads to issue passes mandatorily to a wide field of ex-railway employes and their families sponsored by the railway brotherhood representatives, may have been inspiration to this rather direct and positive solution of the railway free pass question.

The introduction of the measure has brought out much discussion about a privileged class the present use of railroad free passes creates, that class riding free, being privileged beyond all others. It is even argued that were those riding free to pay for their rides, such revenue realized, were they to travel as extensively as they now do, would do much to make it possible for reduction in passenger railway tariffs for all those who now pay for their rides. The free pass practice is argued, by those who pay their fares, as instituting a "special privilege" enjoyed by certain classes at the expense of those who ride on railroads and are required to pay for doing so.

The bill in question cuts off exchange passes between railroads also, to those who wish to employ them between points wholly within the state of Wisconsin. It is drawn so as to make its application only within the state of Wisconsin, since it can have no application to interstate commerce, which finds its power of regulation of rates and free passes resting in congressional legislation. However, all railroads operating wholly within Wisconsin, or roads operating partly without and partly within this state, will be prohibited from issuing free passes for the class of travel above indicated from one point to another point, both of which are within the state of Wisconsin. In this respect it is said it will cut off a large amount of free riding if enacted and produce revenues that may lead to lower railroad fares.—Backer of the Bill.

EAGLES PENSION BILL MAKING PROGRESS

[To The Editor]—Kindly pardon my intrusion on your time and attention. My excuse is the important humanitarian measure now before the legislature of Wisconsin in which you are, of course, deeply interested.

I refer to the bill providing pensions for the worthy dependent aged—men and women whose toil has helped build up the prosperity and wealth of the state, yet who owing to ill-health or adverse economic conditions for which they are not responsible, have not been able to "lay by" for old age. Old Age Pension legislation is the most conspicuous social welfare measure before the American commonwealth today.

Whether your early impressions have been favorable or unfavorable you, as a fair minded editor, surely desire that there shall not be in the minds of your readers prejudices arising from misrepresentation or concealment of the facts.

With that thought in mind I venture to ask you carefully to read the enclosed clippings which give in substance the history of the movement by which in two commonwealths Old Age Pension laws have been recently enacted—namely, the distant agricultural and mining territory of Alaska and the great industrial state of Pennsylvania. In both cases, you will observe that an awakened and, enlightened public opinion produced the results. Previously Nevada and Montana enacted similar legislation.—Frank E. Hering, Grand Aerie Fraternal Order of Eagles, South Bend, Ind.

Poems That Live

INSUFFICIENCY.

There is no one beside thee and no one above thee,
Thou standest alone as the nightingale sings!
And my words that would praise thee are impotent things,
For none can express thee though all should approve thee.
I love thee so, dear, that I only can love thee.

Say, what can I do for thee; weary thee, grieve thee?
Lean on thy shoulder, new burdens to add?
Weep my tears over thee, making thee sad?
Oh, hold me not—love me not! let me retrieve thee,
I love thee so, dear, that I only can leave thee.

—Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

The State Press

The editor of the Iron River Pioneer claims that he saw Whitfield on May 20—two days before his appearance in Madison. The editor says that he was walking to town on the Iron River—Port Wing road when a big car stopped and the driver asked for a match. The Iron River editor says that he is sure the man was Whitfield.

Says the Dodgeville Sun Republic:

"Death at the hands of the state senate has been visited upon the Sachtjen bill, which was intended to do away with the enforcement law and was brought out of committee immediately following Governor Blaine's famous attack upon the latter. So the enforcement law remains upon the books and Governor Blaine's drive against it has failed. It has always been said to be the best in the United States."

According to the Waupaca County Post, John Strange was in the midst of an attack on Senator La Follette when he was stricken at New London. The Waupaca paper says:

"Mr. Strange was in the midst of a sharp criticism of his old leader, La Follette, when he was stricken. 'I suppose,' he said, 'nobody in the state is any more responsible for La Follette than I am, and I am sure nobody in the state is more heartily ashamed of it.' Proceeding, he had just said that 'railway rates have never been reduced in Wisconsin as the result of any legislation of the 'La Follette crowd,'' when he paused, took a backward step and fell to the floor."

The Milwaukee Association of Commerce sends out material against an old age pension law for Wisconsin. The Antigo Journal, in an editorial, repeats practically the arguments made by the Milwaukee association.

I've roughed it, I've toughed it,
From Texas to Maine;

But I'll tell you right here,
If you'll lend me your ear,

A bath in the rain.

ADVISING A BOY

This is all that I would say
As you face the world today:
Life, with all its cares and doubt
And the dangers strewn about,
All its hardships and its griefs
And its many strange beliefs,
Has uncounted joys to give
If in honor you will live.

You'll discover many creeds
Satisfying human needs,
Many ways for men to take
For the fortunes they would make;
You will see men dwelling high
On the mountain of a lie,
But the hand that filches fame
Is forever soiled with shame.

Do the thing you know is right,
Though you win or lose the fight;
Take the loss in gold or fame,
Not in self respect or shame;
Never leave a deed behind
That you fear the world to find,
For the bitterest cares men meet
Are the children of deceit.

Play the friend and play the man,
Lend and give whene'er you can,
And when doubts of right and wrong
Rise to fret you, clear the skyway;
Howsoever large the gain,
Keep your conscience free from stain.
If but this, my boy, you do,
All the world must honor you.

Toots and Casper — By Murphy

WHY, TOOTS! YOU LOOK SO DIFFERENT WITH YOUR HAIR DRESSED FLUFFY! I DIDN'T RECOGNIZE YOU AT FIRST!!
NEITHER DID CASPER WHEN HE CAME DOWN FOR BREAKFAST, AND SAW ME WITH MY FLUFFY HAIR FOR THE FIRST TIME! LET ME TELL YOU WHAT HAPPENED
THE WRETCH!!
SO THAT FLUFFY HAIRED GIRL IS TOOTS!! GEE WHIZ! I SAW HER SITTING THERE SMILING AT ME, AND SHE SAID "AIN'T YOU GONNA KISS ME GOOD MORNING," AND I SAID "SURE, BUT I DON'T WANT TOOTS TO CATCH ME!"
WOWIE!!! I'M IN FOR IT!
-BUT, TOOTS, MEBBE CASPER KNEW IT WAS YOU ALL THE TIME AND WAS JUST KIDDING YOU!
I KNOW DIFFERENT, MRS. CROW!
AH! THAT'S MY CUE!
WELL, TOOTS!! HOW'D YOU LIKE TO TAKE IN A SHOW TONIGHT? HUH?

TICKS O'THE TIMES

AMPLIFIED BY IRV SHAFRIN

THE MORNING'S MAIL

Dear Ticks:
Last week the school inspector
Was visiting the district.
His call at one of
The schools was quite
Unexpected, and when he came
There was a big racket.
The boys, you know how they
Come in the country, were
Out of their seats, surrounding
One who was slightly bigger
Than themselves. Every time
He tried to say something
One of the other lads
Would land a swing at him.
The inspector sized up
The big boy, and started
Cuffing him. "Hey," cried
One of the others, "cut that
Out; that guy is our teacher."

"Sam Arita."

THINGS TO LOSE SLEEP OVER.

Mayor Koehler of Cleveland has vetoed a common council provision for $10,000 reward for Whitfield.

* * *

If the reward goes up much further Whitfield himself may come out and claim it.

A VACATION HINT.

I.

(To The Sheiks)

For a town that can't be beat
Eau Claire is there;
Where the girls are mighty sweet;
Eau Claire is there—
You can find them any size,
Perfect shape and otherwise;
For a place to pick your prize
Eau Claire is there!

II.

(To Married Men)

If you're looking for the best
Eau Claire is there;
For a place to build your nest
Eau Claire is there—
If you'd fill your life with bliss
Have wifey greet you with a kiss
Then just harken you to this:
Eau Claire is there!

PSYCHOLOGY A LA MODE.

If you are followed about by a lot of d— fools of both genders wheresoever you go, and you notice it, there is something on your mind and you are not right.

If your home is entered and your money taken and all your papers muddled and you notice it, you are unbalanced.

If your home is "tapped" and fools listen in (having nothing else to do), and things you say in privacy come back to you, don't pay any attention to it all, says the psychologist. Or your mind is unbalanced.

Can you beat it?

Donald McDonald.

RIGHT.

"Son," shouted the irate father, censuring one of his boys for a misdeed, "when I was a boy my father would have whipped me for such a thing."

"H'm. Nice sort of father you must have had."

"What? Why, you impudent cub. I had a darn sight better father than you ever will have."

QUERY.

The syncopator blares all night;
His lungs seem like pneumatic tires;
I'm asking, Ticks, pray set me right.
How is it that he never tires?

REPLY.

The mystery, Wally, isn't hard.
It will not turn our marcels gray;
The jazz musician tires not, pard.
Because his work is always play!

SHEAR NONSENSE.

"Has not Fortune ever knocked at your door?"

"He did once, but I was out. Ever since he's always sent his daughter."

"Who is she?"

"Miss Fortune, of course."
